Three Big Battleships Reach German Bases; Swift Dash Called 'Insolent.'

BULLETIN

LONDON —(AP)— Reorganization of Prime Minister Churchill's war cabinet to increase fighting cooperation among the army, navy and air force and avoid further British failures such as the escape of the three German warships was forecast in informed parliamentary circles today.

(By International News Service)

LONDON — Prime Minister Winston Churchill today ordered a searching inquiry into the circumstances surrounding the escape of three powerful German warships from Brest to Helgoland under the very noses of the Royal navy and air force, as the British press and public alike poured upon the Churchill government a mounting storm of criticism.

A tremendous storm in parliament was anticipated.

British public opinion, already wrathy and apprehensive over recent event in Libya and the tragedy of Singapore, reached new heights of indignation after the "insolent" and successful dash of the Nazi battleships Scharnhorst and Gneisenau and the heavy cruiser Prinz Eugen through the narrow waters of the Straits of Dover—waters that Britain has controlled completely for more than 130 years.

Throughout the country there was a growing clamor for an immediate grand inquest into the audacious Nazi coup—and why it was allowed to happen.

Newspapers lashed at Prime Minister Winston Churchill and his government. Only the Daily Express came to Churchill's defense, raising a virtually lone voice in appealing to the public not to "flog" the prime minister.

Private inquests, conducted last night in every home and "pub" in the land, continued today as newspapers agitatedly discussed what may be expected now that the German battleships Scharn-

APPOINTS TWO

Mayor Names Patrolmen Police Department Now Has 36.

Two more patrolmen were appointed to the Mansfield police force today, bringing the department's strength up to 36 men, highest in its history.

Mayor William J. Locke said that Charles Letizia, 295½ West Third street, and Earl Korn, 298 Vennum avenue, had been appointed and would be notified in letters from Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton.

One of the patrolmen was appointed as an addition to the traffic squad while the other was named to fill the need for an additional man on the regular force, created when a general promotion was made during the leave of absence granted Police Chief Meade K. Bates.

Letizia was employed by the Colby and Earick Auto Sales company while Korn has been working with the Pepsi-Cola Bottling company.

Ingalls Guilty

Laura Ingalls, erstwhile ace aviatrix, is pictured leaving federal court in Washington, D. C., after she was found guilty of failing to register as a German agent. Although she maintained that her espionage efforts were "misunderstood" the jury accepted the federal prosecutor's charge that "she sold out her country for $500 and the possibility of being a Nazi favorite." The maximum sentence for her offense is two years in jail, $1,000 fine, or both.

HOSPITAL WARD QUARANTINED

Mansfield doctors were delivering babies in private homes today as the result of a quarantine upon the maternity ward of General hospital imposed Thursday night when two scarlet fever cases were discovered among the patients.

Dr. William B. Wild, city-county health commissioner, said that the ward has been under quarantine since late Thursday when it was learned that a mother released from the hospital on Wednesday had contracted scarlet fever.

Eighteen babies and 17 mothers were affected directly by the quarantine while several others were denied admittance because of the danger of contracting the disease.

Dr. Wild said that a check on the patients in the maternity ward after the discovery of the first case, showed that another woman was suffering from the same disease. He ordered the ward quarantined immediately and be-

Reporters Find 7 Cleveland War Plants Wide Open

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Some Cleveland war plants are as wide open as a department store to two young Cleveland reporters.

Robert Herrick and John Blair roamed at will yesterday through seven of the larger plants working on war contracts. They were turned back by guards at four others.

The reporters made no effort to disguise themselves as workmen, nor did they give any explanation of their presence. In the seven plants they visited they were not asked to identify themselves.

Their instructions were: "Walk as far as you can without being challenged by a guard." In several factories where they were challenged, the newspapermen merely walked outside the plant, found another entrance, and passed through without being stopped.

In one of the largest plants in the city Blair wandered at will for nearly 30 minutes inspecting airplane parts and machines vital to the war effort. He said he was so close to highly-inflammable materials that he could have tossed a match into them or planted a time bomb without the slightest effort, and apparently without risk of detection.

20-45ERS SIGN FOR MILITARY SERVICE TODAY

21 Registration Stations Start 3-Day Task to List Men Men Subject to Draft.

SOME 'JUMP THE GUN'

Arrive Before Workers Are Ready to Register Them; Open Sunday, Monday.

Richland county men from 20 to 45 started registering for possible military service at noon today while several of them jumped the gun and sought to sign up for defense service before the county's 21 registration stations opened.

The registration, which will list all unregistered male citizens and aliens between the ages of 20 and 45, will continue until 6 p. m. this evening. Registration places will re-open at noon Sunday and close at 6 p. m. tomorrow, and then they will be open from 7 a. m. to 9 p. m. Monday.

Hundreds of men who will be working Monday are expected to sign up this afternoon and Sunday afternoon. It was estimated that nearly 6,000 men in the new age groups will register during the three days.

It is the first war-time registration of manpower since the nation entered the war early in December, but the third in the past 16 months. More than 10,000 Richland countians under 36 signed up in the two previous registrations.

Ohio was expected to register 425,000 more men this time while the national total probably will reach 9,000,000, draft officials said. Nearly 1,000,000 registrants already have been inducted into the army and Secretary of War Stimson said the army would be increased to 3,600,000 by the end of this year.

While volunteer registrars were on duty at the majority of the 21 stations today, the three draft boards were prepared to give information concerning the registration procedure and to keep the machinery running smoothly.

Board 1 with offices on the sixth floor of the Farmers Bank building will direct activities in the western half of Mansfield. Board 2, located on the ninth floor of the Richland Trust building, is

CALLS COUNCIL

FDR Summons U. S., British Unit to Discuss War.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— President Roosevelt today assembled the U. S.-British war council to debate future strategy in the light of grave developments in the Pacific.

Those who met in the oval room study of the White House were: For the United States, Secretary of the Navy Knox, Secretary of War Stimson, Lease Lend Supervisor Harry Hopkins, Gen. George C. Marshall, Chief of Staff, Lt. Gen. H. H. Arnold, Chief of the Air Corps, Admiral Harold R. Stark, Chief of Naval Operations and Admiral Ernest J. King, commander in chief of the United States fleet; for the British, Gen. Sir John Dill, Gen. Sir Coville Wemyss, Air Marshall A. T. Harris and Admiral Sir Charles Little.

The White House made no comment on the conference other than to announce it had been called.

Greetings From Dan Cupid Take Over Mailman's Pack

50,000 Valentines Sent Out By Mansfielders to Give Postoffice a Rush Almost Like Christmas.

By ESTHER SMITH

Dan Cupid took his place today with the great men of February and the number of St. Valentine greetings sent out in his honor were second only to Christmas, according to Mansfield postal officials.

From frothy concoctions of hearts and flowers to the penny comics, the valentine mail this year was "extra heavy," according to Postmaster Herman E. Homberger. The boys in military service were on the receiving end of at least one-third of it.

More than 50,000 valentines were handled by the postoffice this year. They were all shapes and sizes and as different as day and night from the variety on the old-time market.

They are streamlined and saucy and some of them are topical such as a soldier "Yoo-hooing" to a girl friend. (Remember General Lear?) Uncle Sam and military insignia appear on others along with sentiments from the folks back home and "The girl I left behind me."

Military valentines sold first this year although the sweethearts of men in camp expressed a preference for the "hearts and flowers" type. "It seems more like home," they said.

The 1942 missive is full of surprises and not without mystery. Some of them have the aspects of a jack-in-the-box such as a flirtatious belle who bats a real eye-lash when you least expect it or a gay chanticleer with tail feathers that tickle the risibilities.

Then there's the jig-saw valentine for the person who likes to keep 'em guessing. The sender writes his name at the top of the puzzle before shaking the pieces apart and putting them into an envelop for mailing. Then

U. S. Land Forces at Hawaii Set to Take Offensive

HONOLULU —(INS)— The U. S. army and marine corps units in Hawaii today are ready for the offensive action against the Japanese, Lieut. Gen. Delos C. Emmons, military commander of the Hawaiian department, declared in a radio address to the American mainland.

The Hawaiian land forces "have offensive plans but they cannot be disclosed until after they are executed," he said. Gen. Emmons pointed out that the fleet forces of Admiral Chester W. Nimitz recently gave Japan a taste of the bitter doses she may expect.

"The army over here is watching, training, building and producing results," he said. "We are growing stronger every day."

FILES CHARGE IN SHOOTING

Reformatory Parolee, Shot at Farm, Signs Affidavit Against Ex-Guard.

Willis Harris, 46, former Ohio State reformatory guard and now a farmer southeast of Mansfield, was charged today with shooting James Wilson, 30, his farm hand, with intent to wound him.

The shooting occurred last Monday afternoon at the S. A. Foltz farm near Mansfield. Sherrif Frank E. Robinson said Harris, who is confined to bed with a broken back, admitted shooting Wilson through the abdomen.

Wilson, a reformatory parolee, signed the charge against Harris. It was drawn up by Prosecutor Harold Lutz who said Harris would be arraigned in municipal court as soon as his condition makes it possible for him to be brought to Mansfield.

The prosecutor said Miss Zola Chamberlain, 38, housekeeper at the Harris home, would be held as a material witness to the shooting. She allegedly brought Harris the revolver used in the shooting when he asked for it. Miss Chamberlain's bond was set at $500 in common pleas court and Lutz said she would not be imprisoned if she provides bond.

Wilson continued to show improvement today and General hospital attendants said he was able to sit up and take nourishment for the first time since he was wounded. Wilson was paroled last month to Foltz, the farm owner.

Lutz would not say that Harris will be brought to Mansfield for the hearing in an ambulance, but that was seen as a possibility. Sheriff Robinson was to discuss the former gaurd's condition with physicians today in an attempt to arrange a time for the hearing which is expected to be early next week.

LONDON—British imperial troops doggedly defending Singapore in the face of Japanese hordes today continued furiously to resist enemy efforts to penetrate the heart of the city, according to an official communique from the bomb-scarred Far Eastern fortress.

The communique, received in London shortly after 1 p. m. (8 a. m. EWT), declared:

"During yesterday afternoon enemy attacks developed in the Payalebar area and in the west. Both were in considerable strength.

"Today the enemy maintained pressure, supporting his attacks with a number of high-level bombing raids by large formations of aircraft, continual shelling by his artillery and low dive-bombing attacks.

"His artillery also shelled the city intermittently throughout the night and this morning.

"Our troops, British, Australian, Indian and Malayan, are disputing every effort to advance further toward the heart of Singapore City.

BATAVIA — The Japanese today opened a large scale air attack on Palembang, important oil center on Sumatra, dropping hundreds of parachute troops, but an official announcement said "dozens" of the invaders were killed and that the "situation was not unfavorable" to the Dutch defenders.

The paratroops, dropped at three places near Palembang, were brought over the islands, which lies just across the Malacca strait from Singapore, in more than 100 transport planes, which were accompanied by fighter planes.

RENEWED: Jap Guns Resume Shelling of Manila Bay Forts

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—Enemy artillery on the Cavite shore today resumed its siege of American-held forts in Manila bay, but on land Japanese forces appeared to be digging in instead of launching their anticipated "all out" attack against Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

The lull in land fighting which has continued for more than a week was topped today by news that Japanese troops facing MacArthur's line were entrenching themselves on the Batan peninsula.

While infantry activity was held to aggressive skirmishes, MacArthur reported that American-Filipino artillerymen were dueling with the Nipponese gunners.

There was no indication that the Cavite siege guns are having any more success against the forts than they have had the past ten days. Heavy guns from Corregidor and three other forts across Manila bay time and again have smashed enemy gun emplacements.

MacArthur's report of air activities on all parts of the front may be the result of enemy reinforcements which have been anticipated for the expected knock-out blow against the defenders and their fortified island positions.

The fact remains, however, that MacArthur still is holding out on Batan after 10 weeks of warfare against numerically superior Japanese forces.

At least five divisions totalling about 125,000 veteran Jap soldiers together with supporting forces have been moved into position opposite MacArthur's lines now stretched from coast to coast on Batan about half way down the peninsula.

DEFEATED: Enemy Beaten by Luzon Force In Tank Battle

By FRANK HEWLETT
(UP Staff Correspondent)

WITH GEN. M'ARTHUR'S ARMY, In the Philippines—American tanks have met and defeated Japanese tanks in the Batan peninsula in the first battle of tanks against tanks alone in United States history.

It was a little fight and it took place on New Year eve, but the story which came out today showed that it was a clear cut victory.

Ten light American tanks were covering the withdrawal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's men to their present line when First Lieut. William Gentry, Kentucky National Guard, of Harrodsburg, Ky., sighted a force of eight Japanese tanks, only a few hundred yards away, and flashed the news to other tanks over his radio.

First Lieut. Harold Collins, of Lacarne, O., moved up in support and the two American platoons went into action with the guns of their 10 little tanks spitting death.

They fought a fierce fight, sometimes at less than 30-foot range, and destroyed six of the eight Japanese tanks without losing a tank themselves.

Lieut. Gentry, told me the story today at the field hospital where he is recuperating—not from battle wounds but from an attack of fever which felled him after his hard-fighting tank platoon had been brought to the rear for a deserved rest.

Gen. MacArthur's men were falling back through the sleepy little town of Bailaug, 40 miles north of Manila, and it was one

GEN. JOHNSON:

By HUGH S. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON—It is getting to be unpopular to be making "mountains out of molehills" by talking too much of two "little set-backs" at the beginning of a long war—referring to our defeat at Hawaii and in the Philippines and the British disasters in the Far East.

Gen. Johnson.

The complaint in my fan mail is that I talk too much of these and too little of our "triumphs" like the Russian resistance and the one in Macassar Straits in the battle of production on the home front.

The truth is that I know little about our "triumphs" except that part that is officially given out. But I can look at a map and in my earlier years, was trained to read one with special emphasis on its military aspects.

We were all given to understand that we would follow British strategy in the Far East. It was easy to see that the whole of that combined strategy was based on holding the Japanese in check by use of the naval and supposed air supremacy we thought we could pool and that all that depended on vastly extending our lines of naval and air action by use of the great naval bases and depots, particularly at Singapore and Honolulu and, to an extent, Manila.

Is it a "little set-back," to have the basis of our whole world-strategy shot out from under our feet in a few weeks' time?

Pearl Harbor is not permanently impaired but our losses there, combined with British naval losses off Malaya whittle away our naval supremacy and the loss of Singapore as a base reduces the area of our naval effectiveness by 2,500 miles. Our supposed aerial supremacy is something in the future, and even then, without sufficient bases, that has yet to be proved.

Like everyone else, this writer was thrilled at the headlines of Nazi reverses in Russia but when you look at the map, you see that the ground recovered is about one seventh of the ground lost. While this includes some highly important key-points, no military student could look at that map and see much menace to the essential military position of the Nazis.

The British capture of Bengasi, to which Mr. Churchill pointed as his excuse for not preparing the defenses of Singapore and why we were not better prepared in the Philippines and Hawaii, isn't nice to talk about any more. It is the Germans who hold Bengasi.

British purpose to keep the life line of empire open isn't too promising. One prong of it ran through the Mediterranean and the other through Macassar straits. The former has been too dangerous for years to be a commercial life line and the latter is now of about as much value.

Another looming danger is what may happen in China if the Burma road, now sorely threatened, is cut. One great strength of that resistance was the faith of Chiang Kai-Shek and his people in his white allies.

No American who has not lived in the Orient can imagine the value of "face" or strong outward appearance to an Oriental. Once that is gone from a man or a people, there is a severe back-sliding in the esteem of eastern peoples.

We have recently lost it by land slides. It certainly can't help the dogged defensive determination of the Chinese.

Now the question of this column is, should all this be glossed over or withheld from this country? If it were a nation discouraged and fighting in the last ditch, perhaps yes. But it is a nation that seems scarcely to realize that it is in a war and totally indifferent to its own dangers and obligation.

Not one of these things should be exaggerated but it never did any person or any people harm to tell them the rough unvarnished truth.

JUDGE DECIDES FATE OF YOUNG RAPIST TODAY

Chicagoan, 18, Pleads Guilty To Charges of Attacking Women, Scorns Morals.

BULLETIN

CHICAGO—(U.P.)—Judge Julius Miner today declined the appeal of brilliant David Reese Steffey, III, 18, for scientific treatment of his mania for attacking women and sentenced the handsome high school athlete to life in the state penitentiary.

(By United Press)

CHICAGO — Judge Julius Miner decides the fate today of handsome David Reese Steffey III, 18, "split personality" and confessed rapist, who hopes he will be given psychiatric treatment and university training instead of a prison sentence.

Three psychiatrists, testifying in defense of the youth told Miner that the boy was suffering from "schizophrenia" or split personality, which made him mentally a sort of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde." They said the mental ailment had been aggravated by his "meager study" of philisophy while he was a student at Wright Junior college.

Steffey pleaded guilty to two charges of attacking women and one of attempted rape. He was accused of attacking 23 others.

When the psychatrists said yesterday that the youth would receive better treatment at a psychiatric institution than at a prison. Miner commented that he "would like this defendant to be treated humanly and scientifically."

"But I have a great and grave responsibility to society," he said. "Legally, he comes before this court as one who has pleaded guilty to serious crimes and who is sane within the meaning of the law."

Miner asked Steffey what he would do if he were the judge.

"I'd put myself in an institution," the youth replied, "and give myself a chance to get straightened out. Then I'd give myself a university scholarship. By the time I was 30, I would be able to do more good than half the overgrown adolescents I have seen since I was arrested."

Questioned by both his attorney, Benjamin H Ehrlich, and Miner, Steffey showed no remorse. "There is a lot of medieval bunk about morals," he said.

Priorities have hit the beauty business the same as they have everything else. Hairpins, once considered pretty inconsequential items and easy to get, are now limited to the point where patrons and beauty operators alike hold onto the wiry aids to beauty in much the same manner that a prospector does to a gold nugget. The pins taken out of a patron's hair when she gets a shampoo are used again in the "hair-do" and the ones that fall to the floor are gathered up by a magnet, sterilized and used by the operator at some future time.

FOUND GUILTY OF FAILING TO REGISTER

Laura Ingalls Remanded to Jail After Hearing Jury's Report.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Stuntflier Laura Ingalls today faced a possible maximum penalty of eight to 24 months in prison and $1,000 fine for selling her propaganda services to the German government and failing to report them to the state department.

The diminutive, bob-haired flier, who gives her age as 38, was convicted by a district court jury of 10 men and two women late yesterday of wilful failure to register as a German agent. Justice James W. Morris revoked her $7,500 bail and remanded her to district jail pending sentence, for which no date was set.

Miss Ingalls, who told the jury she saw herself as "a sort of Mati Hari, an international spy," received the verdict with outward calm which was in contrast with her emotional demeanor on the witness stand and at counsel table during the five-day trial.

She stood erect as the jury filed in after one hour and 23 mintues of deliberation and gazed toward the jury box as the clerk's poll brought 12 replies of "guilty." She paled slightly and clenched her hands.

A few minutes later, before she was taken to jail, she remarked: "Well, it's Friday the 13th."

The government had charged that Miss Ingalls received $400 from Baron Ulrich Von Gienanth, second secretary of the German embassy and chief of Gestapo agents in the United States, for making anti-British, isolationist speeches at America First committee rallies.

The defense admitted as much but insisted that the flier had been engaged in private counter-espionage work against the Germans, impelled by the fact that she had been three times turned down when she sought a job with the federal bureau of investigation.

Reilly in his summation called his client "a bit of a crackpot" whose only ambition was to serve her country. Special Prosecutor M. Neil Andrews called her "a charming German agent," "This Mlle. Mati Hari, whose real aim was to pave the way for Adolf Hitler and become "Mrs. Gauleiter of the United States."

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

Yours For a Song.

BROADWAY is the place where most success stories are set to music. A pretty girl who likes a melody may sing a chorus and find that she has graduated from the chorus. Cinderellas who yearn to see their names in lights have little interest in transforming pumpkins into yellow cabs; it's more practical for them to travel the rocky road to stardom, using songs as stepping stones. Because Broadway is the place where the pot of gold is frequently at the end of a rainbow rich in rhythm as well as color—"Deep Purple," "Green Eyes," "Rhapsody In Blue," "The Lady In Red."

Kilgallen

There are so many dazzling examples of girls who kept in tune and landed on top. Alice Faye, graduating from the chorus line and singing with Rudy Vallee's orchestra at the old Hollywood Restaurant. Carol Bruce, erstwhile Brooklyn sales-clerk, stepping into the spotlight for the very first time to intone a now forgotten melody at N T G's shortlived Midnight Sun Dorothy Lamour singing "The Man I Love" above the din of merrymakers at the One Fifth Avenue bar Ann Sothern, then Harriet Lake, singing as ingenue in this and that musical. Martha Raye, swing pioneer doing her first night-club stint at Ben Marden's original Riviera.

Girls like that keep coming up year after year

Today there are dozens of little girls, with dozens of backgrounds, temperaments and hair-dos, tackling that long-awaited, all-important very first job in the Big Town Where did they come from? I can tell you that Where are they going? That's up to the eccentric and unpredictable Fairy Godmother who watches over all career girls.

Take Linda Lark, a girl with the kind of soap-ad coloring that makes heads turn—luminous dark eyes, lustrous black hair, skin the pure white of writing paper. Perhaps some day she'll be important enough to have a press agent explain her unusual color by her Spanish and Norwegian parentage. She was born on Valentine's day and that will make good copy, too, if she ever becomes Sweetheart of Song on the radio or in pictures.

Right now, she works in Irv Carroll's band at Jack Dempsey's restaurant on Broadway. She lives with her mother in a tiny light housekeeping apartment far uptown and travels to and from work by subway every night. She paints her toenails bright red, but uses colorless polish on her fingernails. She frequently sees two or three movies in one day, and the two people she admires most are Alfred Hitchcock and Gertrude Lawrence.

A few days ago she accompanied Carroll's band to Fort Dix and sang for the boys, and afterwards half a dozen of them wrote to her. That was Linda's first batch of fan mail. She shows the letters to everyone who will look, and carries them with her wherever she goes.

Perhaps some day there will be more.

There is a little 19-year-old redhead from San Antonio, Texas, named Margaret Seawell, who doesn't care if you ever hear a thing about Margaret Seawell. Because she is Vincent Lopez' newest protege, and most recent addition to his band at the Taft hotel, and you know the way Lopez changes his proteges' names to suit his numerological findings. Just as one girl became Betty Hutton and other Anne Barrett, so did Margaret Seawell recently become Karole Singer.

Karole Singer is a new type of Lopez vocalist. Hutton was Jitterbug No 1, then Barrett became Jitterbug No. 2, but Karole bears no resemblance to either in looks or song delivery. She can clown, but she can croon a ballad and put her listeners in a sentimental mood Not long ago she did a bit of fancy show-stopping at Loew's State.

PENSION LAW TO BE KILLED

Canvass Reveals Senators Will Repeal Retirement Act Next Week.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—A canvass of the senate indicated today that the much-criticized pension-for-congressmen act will be repealed by the upper branch of congress within a week.

The senate originally approved the measure, which subsequently led to the "bundles for congress" campaign, by a roll call vote of 42 to 24 on Jan. 19.

Thirty senators were listed as not voting, however, when the bill went through, and a survey showed that sufficient support will come from this group—together with disaffections among the ranks of those originally voting "aye" — to guarantee passage of the repealer.

Two bills to accomplish the repeal already have been introduced in the senate by Sens Byrd (D., Va) and Capper (R., Kan.) and a half-dozen similar proposals are pending in the house, which adopted the pension plan by a voice vote.

"The thing is going to be repealed," Sen. Byrd said. "The only question is to get it before the senate."

Byrd admitted that he is considering attaching a repealer to the $100,000,000 Office of Civilian Defense bill in order to secure speedy action There was some question, however, as to whether such a move would be in order.

Tension over the measure was fanned by a lengthy debate in the senate yesterday with Majority Leader Barkley (D., Ky.) endorsing the repealer and condemning the bill's passage as "unwise, untimely and unfortunate."

C. L. REED DIES

Farmer Succumbs at Home In Mifflin Township at 78.

C. L. Reed, 78, veteran farmer of this vicinity, died last night in the home in Mifflin township, Mansfield R. D. 2, where he had lived for the past 44 years. He had been ill only a short time.

A member of the Farm Bureau, he was active in farm organization work. He was a member of the Crider Memorial church until it was dissolved and then he transferred his membership to the United Brethren church in Mansfield. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Reed, pioneer residents of this vicinity.

He is survived by his widow, two sons, James B. and Paul P., two brothers, Melvin of Ashland county and James, of Mifflin township.

Funeral services will be conducted from the Finefrock Funeral Home at 2 p. m. Monday, with the Rev. James Boyer, pastor of the United Brethren church, officiating. Burial will be in Windsor cemetery.

MAKES DENIAL IN JOB OUSTER

Former County Employe Protests Trouble-Making Charge.

Raymond Page, one of four Richland county road workers discharged last December on charges of refusing to take orders and causing trouble among workers on the North Main street bridge project, denied today that he was employed on the bridge or that he was guilty of the charges against him.

Page said he worked on a gravel job and was at no time with the bridge crew. He was dismissed along with three other workers by County Engineer Howard Sword.

Page also denied that he received $6 a day as a road worker as listed by the state civil service commission. He admitted that $6 was the daily pay rate, but he said he worked only seven hours and earned $5.25 a day

LINCOLN DINNER 'WARMS UP' G. O. P. DRIVE, HERBERT TALKS

Richland county Republicans "warmed up" for the 1942 campaign last night at their annual Lincoln dinner at the First Methodist church, Mansfield, and combined their eulogy of the Civil war president with a call to limit criticism of the national administration to constructive suggestions for getting the nation's war production into high gear.

Thomas J. Herbert, Ohio's attorney general, was the principal speaker at the session which was attended by about 110 G. O. P. workers. The dinner was sponsored by the Richland County War Veterans' Republican club.

"The early stages of this war are following the pattern of the first two years of the Civil war when the people were disgruntled over the handling of it and things seemed to be going against the north," Herbert said.

"In some cases carelessness has served the enemy as well as sabotage. That was true at Pearl Harbor, in the damaging of the Normandie, and in the confusion at Washington in getting the red tape untangled and our war production under way," he asserted.

"We are going to carry on a political campaign as usual this year for politics is the basis of our democratic government, but the best way to express our Republicanism during the war is to urge national unity rather than political unity and to keep our criticism constructive.

"Ohio has its house in order in a governmental sense," he continued. "The state highway patrol has been doubled and defense training councils have been set up over the state. Ohio is working out a practical defense program, not the kind that uses dancers and movie actors in major jobs."

Jacob Garber, retired Butler mail carrier and the county's leading collector of Lincolniana, recalled interesting stories from the life of Lincoln and urged the young people of today "to get the spirit of Lincoln and try to learn more about him."

Municipal Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch, toastmaster at the dinner, said the country needs strong and more effective leadership to get it out of the war lethargy which he said was "a pitiful and dangerous attitude."

He added that "few people realize the propensity of our course now, but in six months we will know. We have a big job now as Republicans, but a bigger one as Americans."

R. B. Gardner introduced Herbert. James M. Brownscombe, American Legion member, read Lincoln's Gettysburg adderess.

Cruiser Will Be Added to Growing U. S. Navy Today

NEW YORK — (INS) — A new and formidable man-of-war will be added to the growing United States navy today.

The 6,000-ton light cruiser Juneau will be commissioned at the Brooklyn navy yard and placed under command of Captain L. K. Swensen. Rear Admiral Adolphus Andrews and Ernest Gruening, governor of Alaska, will participate in the ceremonies.

Meanwhile launching of the 1,630-ton destroyer Meade, scheduled for early today at the Staten Island yard of the Bethlehem Steel company, was postponed for at least a day, the third naval district announced.

In the first night launching of the war, the navy's newest submarine chaser PC 552 slid down the ways last night at the Sullivan dry dock and repair company in Brooklyn. Two minutes later the keel of another chaser was swung into place.

Union Services With Six Churches Taking Part Highlight Lent

Special Sermons to Open Wednesday, Continuing for 6 Weeks; St. Peter's Conducts 3 Services Weekly.

Mansfield churches of all denominations were completing plans today for observance of the Lenten season starting with Ash Wednesday next week.

While six Protestant churches plan to gather for union services each Wednesday during Lent, Msgr. R. C. Goebel of St. Peter's Catholic church announced yesterday that three services a week would be conducted at St. Peter's during the period.

Rev. Glenn F. Lewis, pastor of Grace Episcopal church, will preach the sermon on the "Need for Reconciliation" for the first union service which will be held in the First Congregational church at 8 p. m., next Wednesday.

Participating congregations will be St. Luke's Lutheran church, the Park Avenue Baptist church, the First Presbyterian church and the First Christian church besides the First Congregational and Grace Episcopal churches.

Each of the pastors will preach on the general theme, "The Reconciling Christ."

Rev. B. F. Hagelbarger of the First Christian church will speak at services on the second Wednesday at the First Presbyterian church on "The Cost of Reconciliation."

Other services on succeeding Wednesdays include:

Rev. David N. Rolfer of First Presbyterian church at the Park Avenue Baptist church on "Reconciliation Between Man and God"; Rev. Albert L. Linder of the Baptist church at St. Luke's Lutheran church on "Reconciliation Between Man and Man"; Rev. Peter Young of First Congregational church at First Christian church on "Reconciliation Through Faith"; and Rev. Herbert S. Garnes of St. Luke's Lutheran church at Grace Episcopal church on March 25, the last of the series, on "Reconciliation Through the Cross."

The host pastor will conduct the service and the host church will provide the music.

At the Catholic observance Msgr. Goebel said a Lenten service and benediction would be said each Wednesday at 7:30 p. m., Stations of the Cross would be observed and a benediction said each Friday at 7:30 p. m., and a Complin of Lenten prayers and a benediction said each Sunday at 3 p. m.

Sermon, Musical Numbers Announced

Speaking on "Domini, Quo Vadis?" Rev. D. N. Roller will lead the worship services at the First Presbyterian church tomorrow at 10:45 a. m.

Included in the program will be a selection by the church choir and a solo by Leo Hans.

The Women's guild of the church will celebrate the birthday of their organization with a luncheon Thursday at 1 p. m., in the church parlors.

Preaches Final Sermon Here Sunday

"Your Pastor's Last Benediction" will be the topic of Rev. H. E. Tropf, pastor of the Grace Gospel church, tomorrow at 10:30 a. m., as he terminates six and a half years of ministry to the Mansfield church. He has accepted a position with another church in Warren.

Before coming to Mansfield, Rev. Tropf was a pastor in Berne, Ind., and to date has served a quarter of a century as a minister.

The closing service tomorrow will be augmented by musical and vocal selections by Elfriede Jundt and Gordon Tropf, son of the pastor.

Until a new pastor is obtained, O. H. Bublat, superintendent, will officiate at the services.

100 Expected For Pre-Lenten Retreat

The Central conference Luther League of the Synod of Ohio will hold its pre-lenten retreat at St. Mark's church, Sunday at 3 p. m.

Approximately 100 young people will gather from communities as far south as Millersburg and as far north as Lorain for this youth service.

Four meditations will be given, each subject fitting the theme of the Luther League of America for the year: "Always Christ's Way." Among the speakers will be Herbert Garnes, jr., of St. Luke's church and Rev. Wallace Baker of Wooster. Russell McCullough, president of the central conference Luther league is chairman of the committee in charge of this service.

Young People In Charge of Service

Sunday evening services at the Evangelical Congregational church will be conducted by the young people of the Woman's Missionary society at 7:30 p. m.

In charge of Helen Metzger, the program will feature a number of musical numbers and a talk by Mrs. Lewis Rahn.

Rev. R. W. Taubenheim, the pastor, will use the "Journey Onward" as his topic for the regular worship service at 10:30 a. m.

'Overcoming Fear,' Minister's Subject

Rev. B. F. Hagelbarger of the First Christian church will use "Overcoming Fear" as his sermon topic for the 10:30 a. m. worship services for his congregation.

Musical numbers on the program include "O, Sacred Head Now Wounded," sung by the church choir and three organ selections played by Mrs. H. H. Clingan.

The Junior choirs of the church will take part in the choir festival to be held in the afternoon at St. John's Evangelical church and the Christian Youth Fellowship will join with other young people from Mansfield area churches at an evening meeting in Mt. Vernon.

Lesson-Sermon To Be On Topic, 'Soul'

"SOUL" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in the Church of Christ, Scientist, Sunday. It will have for the Golden Text: "Lo, this is our God; we have waited for him, and he will save us: this is the Lord; we have waited for him, we will be glad and rejoice in his salvation" (Isaiah 25:9).

Navy Department Investigates Explosion at Laboratory.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The navy department today conducted an investigation to determine the cause of an explosion in a fuse loading house at the Washington naval research laboratory and magazine resulting in the death of three persons and injury to eight others. Officials said that there was no evidence of sabotage.

Rear Admiral George Pettingill, who heads the investigation, said that production facilities at the powder magazine would not be interrupted.

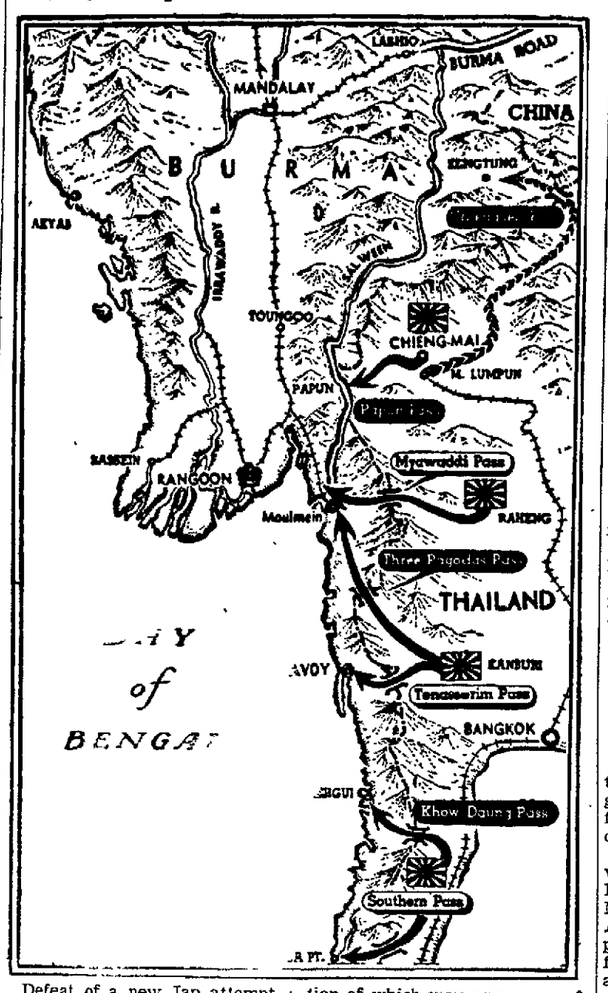
Japs Eye This Road to India



Defeat of a new Jap attempt to cross Salween River enhances Britain's chance of holding Burma. Map shows routes to mountain barriers that divide Burma from Thailand, penetration of which may prove one of the decisive factors in Pacific struggle. If the Japanese cut across, they can shut off Burma Road and win bases for drive on India.

of the most critical moments in the historic retreat to Batan. They were turning the corner around the north side of Manila bay to get into the peninsula and the Japanese were driving savagely to trap them.

The American tanks were still in the little town, covering the withdrawal, when the Japanese tanks nosed across the railroad bridge, in advance of the enemy infantry. Gentry, spotting them at several hundred yards range, gave the alarm.

It was just before dark, and by nightfall six Japanese tanks had been knocked out and the other two had fled to safer pastures.

It was a hot, short fight, right in the streets of the town, and Gentry had no time in which to observe many details. He remembered that one of his bursts of fire ripped into a Japanese tank and then, when the tank got out of line of fire, knocked over a statue of the Philippine patriot Jose Rizal in the center of the town square.

As the result of the fight Gentry believes American tanks are far superior to Japanese tanks. They are faster, their armor is better and they are more maneuverable, he said.

Further, Gentry reported, the Japanese tanks he met apparently were able to fire only from the front so it was easy to knock them out by a side attack.

Youth Hangs From Window Ledge But Police Get Him.

CINCINNATI — (AP) — Ernest Miller, 20, of Hamilton, O., was in jail today on a purse-snatching charge filed by Mrs. Mary Parks —despite the youth's effort to elude police by hanging from a fourth-floor window ledge.

Mrs. Parks and her brother spotted Miller. He ducked into a building and police searched on three floors before an officer opened window shutters of a vacant fourth-floor room and saw Miller dangling by his fingertips four stories above ground.

HEARING SET

Gas Companies Ordered to File Protests on Ruling.

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Seven Ohio Fuel Gas companies today were directed by the state utilities commission to file any objections they may have to a pending order banning the sale of mixed, diluted or "stabilized" gas at a special hearing April 1.

The commission withdrew its original order of last July 31 against the sale of such gas where the contract calls for natural gas, but warned that the new order was being prepared.

The companies are the Ohio Fuel Gas company, the Northwestern Ohio Natural Gas company, the Dayton Power and Light company, the United Fuel Gas company, the Cincinnati Gas and Electric company, the Manufacturers Light and Heat company, and the Natural Gas company of West Virginia.

The withdrawal followed a public hearing Jan. 27 on a motion by the Ohio Fuel Gas company, to rescind the original order.

The Netherlands Indies archipelago.

The Japanese had been sending heavier and heavier formations of planes over Palembang ever since the fall of Singapore seemed imminent, and Monday the town and airfields were bombed and machine-gunned. Little damage was caused but there were some civilian casualties.

The opening of this new front on the spreading war lines of the Japanese came as the high command quoted unconfirmed reports that Bandjermasin, the South Borneo port, had been occupied by the enemy. The high command reiterated that destruction of everything of value to the Japanese at Bandjermasin.

Japanese bombers also raided Tandjong Padan, capital of the little tin producing island of Billiton, between Sumatra and Borneo, and slightly wounded one civilian.

A successful invasion of Sumatra in the Pelambang area would give the Japanese another base from which to send their bombers over Java and Batavia.

The enemy threat to Java previously concerned three points—Bandjermasin in South Boreno, Macassar in South Celebes, and Amboina island. These holdings provided the Japanese with fields from which to launch either air attacks on sea born troops to the east, northeast and north of Java. If Palembang now is taken the enemy will have a base on the island's northwest flank.

Report Jap Ships Off New Britain

LONDON—(INS)—Japanese warships and supply ships have been sighted off New Britain island in the Pacific, the London Evening Star said today, quoting the Melbourne radio.

Japanese troops landed at Rabaul, capital of New Britain island several weeks ago. The fate of the Australian garrison there is still in doubt, no word having been received since shortly after the Japanese invasion when the garrison reported it was fighting fiercely.

Aussies, British Land In Java

It was not indicated whether these troops had come from Singapore or elsewhere.

Estimate 165,000 Japs Die In Blitz

WASHINGTON—(INS)—Japanese army and navy casualties in 10 weeks of blitz warfare in the Pacific were estimated roughly today by conservative military experts at 165,000 dead as the result of onslaughts against the Philippines, Malaya, Singapore and the Dutch East Indies.

While pointing out that an accurate compilation is impossible, these sources contended the estimated total is not so high considering the scope of the Nipponese attempt, but is extremely high on the basis of the number of men in action.

The same war analysts ridiculed recent Nipponese claims from Tokyo that their losses do not exceed 3,000 dead. Tokyo also said only 5,000 were wounded.

Nipponese army casualties alone were estimated in Washington at 125,000 to 150,000. This rate is considered by military men as very high, considering the Nipponese are understood to be using not more than 500,000 troops against the United Nations, exclusive of China.

The army losses also do not include those claimed in recent battles in China. In the battle of Changsha alone, Chinese claimed destruction of more than 50,000 Japanese.

Losses to naval personnel were set at 10,000 to 15,000. The Rising Sun navy is believed to have a total of 300,000 men.

MANSFIELD, OHIO, SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1942.

Drive carefully tomorrow—and be on the lookout for broken whisky bottles tossed on streets and highways by drunks.

The Japs are now claiming that they were the real discoverers of America—so they're scouting around on the West Coast looking for a chance to take it over.

Guns and shells are to be made out of the metal in pinball machines confiscated in New York—and Mansfield addicts are shuddering to think that they may also be called upon to make this wartime sacrifice.

Sabotage or Carelessness—Same Result

MOST discouraging backset of the week, insofar as American war effort is concerned, was destruction of the former French liner, Normandie, at a New York pier, where the $60,000,000 ship was being remodeled for use in transporting troops.

After announcement that the fire did not result from sabotage, but was caused by the bungling of a clumsy workman who had been entrusted with an acetylene torch, there was quite a relieved feeling over the country—probably because carelessness is such an easily excused trait while "sabotage" still has a sinister sound.

But when it is considered that access to unrestricted prowling around on the Normandie could be gained by no greater effort than buying a $26 membership in the longshoremen's union and that there was no surveillance that would reveal possible saboteurs, the whole thing takes on the appearance of incredible disregard of obvious dangers in such an operation.

It was carelessness that led to the Pearl Harbor debacle; carelessness that disregarded the need of fortifying Guam; carelessness that left General MacArthur with inadequate protection of the Philippines: carelessness that retarded last year's war preparations; carelessness that caused destruction of the Normandie—and, unless there is a changed attitude, there is danger of carelessness, and its associated traits of complacency, inertia and lassitude, losing the war.

We are being told, with some indication of satisfaction, that within another year America will be in readiness, in manpower and military equipment, for an all-out war effort—but in the meantime Germany and Japan ARE READY, and throughout the great expanses of the Far East the greatly underestimated Japanese are winning the war—at least temporarily.

* * *

ANOTHER bitter blow to the Allies came when three Nazi battleships that had lain harmless in the Brest harbor for months, were able to elude British pursuers in the English channel and escape to a home port from which they can once more harass allied shipping in the Atlantic.

At Singapore greatly outnumbered defenders, with little in the way of air power, are reported still battling valiantly in an apparently hopeless effort to save the city until reinforcements arrive—but here again the ominous slogan seems to be "Too little and too late."

In the Philippines MacArthur's small army is continuing to battle the Japanese on a one-against-ten basis and on a twenty-four hour schedule—with no extra pay for overtime or Sunday work.

* * *

EXCEPT for those who have sons, brothers, husbands, or close friends in some branch of the armed forces, or eligible to selective service, the attitude of a considerable percentage of people in the United States is that the war is still quite remote and there is an inclination to complain about restrictions on automobiles, tires, sugar, and some other commodities.

There are still some greedy firms trying to make outrageous profits out of war contracts; not a few commission brokers, of the Charley West type, attempting to enrich themselves as go-betweens in securing contract awards; efforts on the part of union labor leaders to force wage scales to inflationary levels; congressmen who vote themselves pensions; officials of civilian defense who would have dancing girls take the minds of people off of the war—and the like.

But the time will come—MUST COME—when every American of normal mentality will have better realization of the seriousness of the present situation, as it relates to the future of themselves and their country, and will put aside self-interest at least long enough to make sure that the war will be won—and an example of this changed attitude may well be expected from the nation's leadership in Washington.

Buy Bonds From Current Earnings

WHILE purchase of defense stamps and bonds is being urged, it is again being pointed out that no good purpose is served by withdrawing money from savings accounts in order to buy defense bonds. Money accumulated as a surplus from past earnings and placed in savings accounts is already available to the treasury, to large extent, through investment by banks in government bonds.

What is really needed now is defense bond purchases amounting to a substantial percentage of current weekly and monthly earnings which, under normal conditions, would be used in buying new automobiles, tires and other articles that can no longer be secured.

It is suggested as possible for the average individual to divert an increasing amount of his income to the purchase of defense bonds because, for duration of the war, it will be increasingly difficult to spend the money for consumer goods.

This, it is also emphasized, will tend to reduce competitive buying of restricted supplies of civilian commodities and will thus put brakes on what might otherwise become dangerous inflation, with runaway prices for necessities and remaining luxuries.

Japan's Long-Time Aspirations

JAPAN'S ambitions are nothing new. As far back as the sixteenth century she had a dictator, Hideyoshi, who aimed to create a huge Asiatic empire including Japan, Korea, China, India, Persia and anything else that might come in handy.

Recently publicity has been given to an alleged plan of General Tanaka, prime minister in 1928, which called for conquering China and crushing the United States. Though this document has been called a forgery, it fits in with what is now known of Japanese ambitions.

It took the rubber shortage to raise the question of whether it is worse to HAVE a flat tire than to BE one.

Watching Trends

—By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — One of the great phenomenon of the United States government is the peculiar quality of the White House and the way it fits into the American scheme of things.

For generations, it has almost been a living personality in the minds of the American people, but in recent years it has become a world personality as never before. "The White House says . . . the White House believes . . . the White House reports." And all the world listens.

* * *

THIS is something that transcends the men who have lived there, for although President Roosevelt has contributed much to the power and personality of the White House, it has assumed this air of personal entity before he was born.

Washington, Jefferson, Hoban and L'Enfant, the men who planned and located "the mansion or palace of the presidents" as it was always thought of in those days, would be amazed to find that it has become a force in world affairs.

They visioned it as a quiet retreat where the president might retire from the hurly-burly of politics raging at the other end of Pennsylvania avenue on Capitol Hill. They saw it as a peaceful dignified home, given over to pleasant living. They counted it as the center of that gay, social life in which they presumed Washington would duplicate the pattern of other great capitals.

* * *

WHEN the cornerstone was laid 150 years ago this October, the future of the president's mansion was considered in those terms.

When dour John Adams and sharp-tongued Abigail arrived eight years later to find only six rooms sufficiently completed to be habitable and an army of workmen still camped on the ground that sloped down to a vaporous swamp, there still was no thought that the mansion might ever become the pulse of government.

Possibly it was Jefferson who started pumping the blood of a living personality into the place. Jefferson was a national figure of only slightly less stature than Washington and his coming to the mansion gave it gave it an aura of tradition as well as political power.

* * *

NEVERTHELESS, it was not until the British had sacked Washington and burned the mansion, and Hoban had set about rebuilding it, that it emerged as "the White House."

By that time, the outlines of the central part of the building became pretty much as they are today and it remained only for Andrew Jackson to turn the building around, making the North Portico the front door; and for the long east and west wings to be built to give it its present appearance.

It has a swimming pool in the west wing now and beautiful lawns where the old swamp used to be. Many of its rooms have charm and dignity.

* * *

THE president has his breakfast in bed and starts the day's work before he is out of his pajamas. He lunches from a steam table in his office, generally in conference.

The dinners are nearly always family or small group affairs, especially on Sunday nights, when Mrs. Roosevelt serves scrambled eggs to a small gathering of intimates.

But these are not the things that make the White House a world personality. Probably much more vital to that growing tradition is the bustling secretarial staff; the scores of weekly conferences with the men who are turning the cogs in our world war machine; the historic sessions, such as that with Winston Churchill; and above all those daily utterances which come out of 1600 Pennsylvania avenue for all the world to weigh and consider: "The White House says. . . ."

FOR THE RECORD

Reform Agencies Crowd Capital

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON—It's too much to hope for, but the government could get a long way toward solving the problems both of providing office space for the war activities and homes for the workers in them if it would suspend operations of some of the reform agencies for the duration of the emergency.

These agencies are using a tremendous amount of convenient floor space, urgently needed by the war agencies. They are employing thousands of men and women, all of whom are by now experienced in office work, and most of whom are competent. On the average, the worker in one of the reform agencies is better qualified to go into a war agency than the new persons being employed by the war agencies.

* * *

THERE is another angle. The president has been so worried recently by the problem of housing the new employes in and around Washington that he annoyed the old-timers in the District by calling those not engaged in war work as "parasites." He wants to move them away from Washington so as to make room for the war workers. If that becomes necessary it should be done, and their apartments, or homes, commandeered for war workers. But how about a little common sense in the meantime?

Let's consider the case of thousands of competent workers in the reform agencies which could be suspended for the emergency. Employment—for the duration—of these persons in war work would make for greater efficiency in defense. That cannot be questioned, particularly by the New Deal, for the New Deal picked them for the jobs when there were ten times as many capable applicants for jobs as there are now—in a word during the depth of the depression.

That helps to solve the very real problem of getting competent clerks, stenographers, etc., for the war agencies. But it also helps to solve the housing problem, and the local transportation problem, the latter rivaling the housing difficulty. For obviously every one of these workers in the reform agencies already has a place to live either in Washington or near enough to get to and from work. The transfer of THAT worker does not complicate the transportation problem. He or she ALREADY is being transported to and from work by existing facilities.

It follows, therefore, that every worker in the reform agencies transferred to the defense agencies makes just that much of a contribution to the solution of both the housing and the transportation problems of the nation's capital.

* * *

THERE has been much talk, and some action, of transferring some of the non-defense government agencies from Washington. But there are many drawbacks to this. For one thing, many of the persons now employed in these agencies proposed to be transferred will not move. They will retire, and move directly into the "parasite" class denounced by the president as contributing to both housing and transportation problems. But even when the workers do move to Chicago, or Richmond, etc., (Baltimore is already overcrowded by the defense expansion) there is the difficulty of pulling up stakes on the part of those moving and the utilizing of the vacated space by new workers coming in.

Not to mention the useless movement of furniture and trunks out of Washington on the part of the "parasites" or non-defense agency workers, and into Washington on the part of newcomers.

Truck tires are made of rubber!

NEW YORK — Ralph Rumsey sells reproductions of famous paintings. You can get a 17x22 reproduction of almost any American painting you can name for 80 cents. In color.

I asked him what connoisseurs thought of reproductions, and he said,

"Maybe this will answer your question. Bartlett Arkell—he's the packing man—is one of my customers. I was in his office not long ago.

"I showed him a reproduction of 'A Passing Shower,' by George Inness, the noted American landscape artist who found so many fascinating studies in the Hudson valley. It was a quiet pastoral scene, typically Inness, with men working in a field and sheep grazing on a hillside.

"Mr. Arkell studied the reproduction for a little while, then glanced up. 'It's prettier than mine,' he said. 'How much?' I told him. 'Send me ten of these, he said.

"I took his order, then said 'You mentioned having one of these, Mr. Arkell. Which is it?'

"'The one I have,' he said slowly, 'cost $15,000. It's the original'."

I ONCE heard a judge say that cafes and restaurants which provided music and entertainment were fine for people whose powers of conversation were limited.

I do not wish to imply that one should be an intellectual fuzz-buzz to enjoy the Olney Inn, but I can and will say this about it. This is one of those rare places in New York where the dinner, and not the gags that the funnyman tells, counts. There isn't any funnyman. There aren't any drum thumpers or capers on ice. In fact, there isn't anything — except lovely people and food that tastes better than you have any right to expect.

DOWN the street...and around the corner...comes the Street Singer...

That's Arthur Tracy, who now owns a lot of apartment houses but who also has done considerable knocking about this old world of ours, and who, next to singing "Marta," likes to tell about it more than any other pastime.

One of Tracy's embarrassing moments came before an audience in Glasgow, Scotland. He had just arrived, and in a little curtain speech he said how pleased he was to be in "England."

Tracy didn't get it, and in a few moments repeated the error. This time there was a roar. Recovering himself, the Street Singer gave them a big grin and yelled, "Now I feel better...I just wanted to be sure YOU knew where you were."

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

"Scarce as Hen's Teeth."

It is a proverbial bit of emphasis by understatement.

"Scarce as hen's teeth" is an allusion to the fact that fowls never show their teeth—because they haven't any!

Nor, for that matter, have any other feathered creatures.

That they were not always toothless is the belief of scientists, for there have been dug up fossils of prehistoric birds with teeth.

They lived during the geological periods known as primary and secondary.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Despite the fact that China's republican government has officially adopted the Gregorian calendar, Chinese people at home and abroad continue to observe the beginning of the new year as the date fixed by old custom. By this method according to Chinese compilations the date is determined by the phase of the moon and may fall anywhere from January 21 to February 19. In 1934, the day fell on Feb. 14.

Source of Inspiration.

When I go to church I like to sit in the back row or farther back if possible. That gives me an opportunity to observe a larger number of my fellow creatures.

However good the sermon, I usually get my greatest inspiration (and one should get inspiration in church) from picking out a man or woman here or there who is, I know, carrying a heavy burden. I always see someone who has suffered much but who walks firmly, with head erect and eyes straight ahead. I know something about the load he carries, something of what he has been through and is going through. I know how he takes all the difficult circumstances of life in his stride, without unloading his grief on others.

I am always amazed and grateful and made humble by the invincibility of the human spirit.

It is not thus with all people but it is with some, indeed with many. And that is an inspiration. To know that some can attain that quality of invincibility teaches us that all may sometime, somehow achieve it.—Grove Patterson in the Toledo Blade.

Hints on Etiquette.

When driving your automobile, why not slow up before you get to the corner where you have to stop for a red light, instead of pulling up entirely over the white line where the pedestrian is supposed to walk? Everyone has to walk occasionally, and it is very aggravating to be compelled to walk around an automobile to get to the other side of the street instead of straight across, according to the lines drawn for use of pedestrians.

Summary of Week's Happenings

Congress Keeps Eye On Politics, Sees Need for 'Mending Fences'

—By ASSOCIATED PRESS

THE WORLD remembers how Woodrow Wilson had his political ears pinned back during World war I when he called on Americans to express their confidence in him by electing solid Democratic majorities in both houses of congress. His Democratic party lost control of both houses in the 1918 elections. The new Republican majorities later blocked his plan to take America into the League of Nations.

In the current war, politics vanished magically from Washington after Pearl Harbor. Republicans and Democrats joined as one in declaring war on the Axis. And Republicans have been virtually unanimous in granting President Roosevelt all his requests for war funds.

But the capital is becoming politically-conscious again now that the war is in its third month.

Election Coming Up.

Republicans and Democrats alike have their eyes on the congressional elections in November. Thirty-four senate seats and all the house seats will be at stake.

It looked for a while as if FDR would follow Wilson's tactics. The Democratic national chairman, Edward Flynn, made a speech saying that "vast confusion" would result if Republicans controlled the house.

Wendell Willkie promptly retorted that the most disastrous thing that could befall America would be for her to be conducted "down the route of purely partisan leadership."

When newsmen asked FDR to comment on Flynn's statement, the president said that in time of war we want a congress composed of men, regardless of party, who back up the government.

At Home

Theater Folks and OCD.

Representatives who calmly nodded yes as a 26½ billion dollar appropriation for the navy whizzed by, worked themselves into a state of indignation over the four-figure salaries of some OCD officials. Under fire were these two officials in particular:

Ballroom dancer Mayris Chaney, a friend of Assistant OCD Director Mrs. F. D. Roosevelt, who was receiving $4,600 as head of OCD's children's fitness section;

Melvyn Douglas, movie actor, who was receiving $8,000 a year (but paid for only the time he actually worked) as head of an arts section of OCD (He insisted he was working "without compensation.")

Rep. Bennet (R-Mo.) declared that Miss Chaney's only qualification was "that she has named one of her dances 'The Eleanor Glide'."

* * *

LaGuardia Quits.

As lawmakers from both parties raised cries of "boondoggling" in OCD, observers wondered if some of the indignation was not inspired by the desire of congressmen to present themselves to voters back home as vigilant guardians of the public funds.

On Monday the house voted to ban use of any of a $100,000,000 civilian defense allotment for paying personnel for "fan dancing, street shows, theatrical performances or other public entertainment."

Meanwhile, OCD Director LaGuardia, who has been edging out of that job for weeks, decided on Tuesday to clear out entirely. OCD executive James Landis succeeded him. Mrs. Roosevelt announced she would "quit soon."

New Jobs for School Marms.

America, with the world's biggest sugar tooth, is noticing the pinch of war in the sugar bowls. Restaurant diners are being startled by the query: "How many lumps, please?"

Price Administrator Henderson blames three factors for the shortage: (1) the war's interference with shipments from the Philippines and Hawaii; (2) exports to America's allies; (3) increased use of sugar cane to make molasses from which alcohol is derived to manufacture smokeless powder.

So that everyone will have enough sugar, Henderson is introducing rationing. Local schoolteachers have been placed in charge of handing out cards for every family in America. Each card entitles the holder to about 12 ounces a week, per person.

Fear of what the neighbors might think or say is expected to prove a powerful deterrent to hoarding. Families will be allowed to keep two pounds per person on hand. Anything above that will be considered hoarded.

Careless With Sparks.

Back in 1935 the magnificent ocean liner, the Normandie, pride of France, breezed across the Atlantic in four days, 11 hours—to establish a new record.

War caught the Normandie tied up at a New York pier where she rusted and accumulated Hudson river mud for two and a half years. Last December the navy took possession, for conversion into the transport ship and renamed the ship the Lafayette.

Last Monday afternoon a fire, said to have been accidentally started by sparks from the blowtorch of a careless workman, swept the Normandie and now the great ship lies on her side in the river—a $60,000,000 monument to one man's carelessness.

United Nations

Chiang Visits Indians.

Tormented by buzzing Japanese warplanes and stinging land and sea drives, the dozing giant that is Asia has been rousing. The Pacific crisis brought together during the week the state chiefs of China and India. They represent one-third of the earth's population.

No Oriental splendor was attached to this meeting at New Delhi, India, between Lord Linlithgow, British viceroy of India, and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek of China. But Chiang and American-educated Mme. Chiang were talking not only to the viceroy but to Nehru and other Indian leaders.

There was speculation that an Asiatic alliance is in the making. Immediately important was a unified military plan for keeping open the Burma road—Chiang's supply lifeline to the outside world—and developing alternate routes.

* * *

Council and Board.

London announced a Pacific council composed of British, Australian, New Zealand and Netherlands representatives. Absence of a U. S. delegate was explained by the statement that British-U. S. collaboration "is so close that this was not necessary."

Washington came closer to becoming the war capital of United Nations. A joint Anglo-American military board was announced.

Abroad

Guessing Season.

While Soviet President Kalinin was declaring that "the Germans will never recapture from the Red army the initiative which has been gained," an idea that Hitler is resolved to renew his bloody assault on Russia come spring was vouched for by Sir Stafford Cripps, recently British ambassador to Moscow. He forecast a Hitlerian drive for Caucasian oil with "a new and terrible blitz planned with the meticulous care of the German mind."

And that the allies might try to upset these plans was vouched for by the Germans themselves. The German propaganda machine went into action to prepare the "overworked and irritable" German people for the shock of a British-American invasion of the European continent. It would be timed in the spring to disorganize Hitler's renewal of the offensive in Russia, propagandists said.

* * *

Losing Generals.

The current week's top-ranking German general to die was Maj. Gen. Fritz Todt, builder of the Siegfried Line and engineer of German defenses on the Russian front. He died "in an air accident." In addition, Rome radio announced that three lesser-known generals—Protiwitz, Sommermann and Filkoff—had been killed "in action" in Africa.

* * *

"Impregnable" Singapore.

Britain spent $400,000,000 to make Singapore one of the most impregnable island fortresses the world had ever seen.

The Japanese spent years quietly searching for its vulnerable spots.

The island fortress had been built primarily to withstand a siege from the sea. Japan therefore chose to attack from land and air, even though this meant her men had to fight their way down through 300 miles of Malaya jungle to get in position.

After Britain's imperial forces withdrew into their island bastion, their commander, Lieut. Gen. Percival, proclaimed: "We will hold Singapore; there is no question about it."

But this week's fighting has disclosed this was another case of over-confidence.

Quotes

Francis Forde, Australian army minister, in a message to General Douglas MacArthur: "We take pride in your superb courage and skill, and all Australia prays for your army's triumph."

Melvin J. Maas, representative from Minnesota, says no compromise is possible in the war: "We must understand that the world is divided into two camps and that only one of these is going to survive."

In Short

Asked: By FDR, that congress appropriate an additional $5,430,000,000 for lend-lease aid through June 30, 1943.

Voted: Unanimously by the senate agricultural committee, to forbid government sales of cotton, wheat, corn and other commodities below parity prices.

Relieved: U. S. Admiral Thomas Hart, as chief of allied naval forces in Western Pacific, by C. B. L. Helfrich of Royal Netherlands navy. Hart asked to be relieved because of illness.

Named: Admiral William H. Standley, former chief of naval operations and now retired, as ambassador to Moscow. He succeeds Laurence Steinhardt, who has been named ambassador to Turkey.

NURSE BECOMES BRIDE OF W. F. RICE, JR.

Marriage Is Solemnized on Feb. 12 In First Presbyterian Church; Reception Held at Rice Home.

IN A QUIET CEREMONY solemnized before immediate relatives in the First Presbyterian church at 2:30 p. m. on Feb. 12, Miss Anna Louise Crum, daughter of Mrs. James Crum, of Willard, became the bride of Walter F. Rice, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Rice, of this city. Rev. David N. Roller officiated.

The bride was attired in a navy blue street length dress which was made princess style with a white lace collar. She wore navy blue accessories and had a corsage of white roses.

Attendants for the couple were Mrs. Louise Daubert and A. Gerberick. Mrs. Daubert chose a black dress with matching accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents. Upon their return from a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Rice will reside in Mansfield.

The bride is a graduate of Brunswick high school, Kent State college and Mansfield General Hospital School of Nursing. For the past two years she has been employed as assistant supervisor at the latter place.

Party Honors Recent Bride Friday Evening

Honoring the former Ruth Simmons, who was united in marriage with Pvt. William Schmunk on Feb. 1, Mrs. Harry Simmons and Miss Doris Simmons, mother and sister of the bride, entertained with a dessert-bridge at the Susie Janis home last evening.

The T-shaped table was set for 24 guests. Effective arrangement on the top part of the "T" consisted of a complete miniature bridal procession and a three-tiered wedding cake. The other section of the table was decorated with a mirror on which water lily candles had been placed to represent a pool. Sweetpeas completed the pastel appointments.

Prizes in cards games were awarded as follows: contract bridge, Mrs. K. C. Schmunk; auction bridge, Miss Geraldin Mowry; and hearts, Miss Cecille Marti. Out of town guests were Mrs. Max Magglott and Mrs. Walter Berry, of Lucas, and Miss Elizabeth Warehan, of Shelby. Mrs. Schmunk was presented with a shower of miscellaneous gifts. The hostesses gave her cash.

Guild Meeting Held at Church

Mrs. I. H. LeBarre was hostess to members of St. Agnes Guild of Grace Episcopal church in the undercroft of the church on Thursday. Fifteen members were in attendance. Devotionals were led by the hostess. Mrs. Henry Bronkar conducted the study program.

All members responded to roll call with Biblical verses. Mrs. E. C. Peat, president, conducted the business session. Plans were made for the year's work. Luncheon was served at a long table decorated with valentine appointments. The Guild will meet on March 12 at the home of Mrs. Ralph Harris, 123 West Third street.

Club Observes Guest Night At Fox Home

Guest night was observed by the Review of Revie vs club members when they met Friday at the home of Mrs. Howard Fox on Harker street. Mrs. Robert Barker was associate hostess. Speaker for the program was Paul Eliot, Richland county chairman of defense bond and stamp sales.

Musical selections were presented by a quartet comprised of Miss Geraldine Harley, Mrs. Lawrence Bergstrom, Mrs. H. P. Millikin and Mrs. E. K. Tingley. Piano accompaniment was furnished by Mrs. Louise Krause Peterson. Songs by the quartet were "Indian Lullaby," by Clark, and "The Lord Is My Shepherd," by Schubert.

Mrs. Howard Peterson's paper was entitled "Need We Fear Our Alien Population?" Flowers and tapers decorated the luncheon table which was presided over by Mrs. B. W. Knapp. Mrs. Virgil Moffet will entertain the club at her home in Ashland on March 13.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"MARY DARLING," I typed rapidly. "This note will be handed you by Olina at the theater, or if you come to the hotel first, which I doubt, the carbon will be in your box. You must read it through carefully before you have any conversation whatever with Stephen Redfield. This is most imperative, and this is why."

I then rapidly recounted all my conversation with Steve, including the atrocious tarradiddles I had told about her, and wound up by saying:

"He is all ready to ask you and Olina to go with him to the——" I named the swank restaurant where Redfield wished to go. "I know you will accept, and that you will know how to engineer further visits of Redfield and yourself with Olina to the place you used to go.

"I don't think you will have any trouble because of his anger toward you about last night," I went on. "He is so obsessed by the idea of getting your attention away from Noel, that he will be most tractable, I am sure. And you need no hints, I know, as to his management.

Praise For Olina.

"Olina has been wonderful," I went on. "We understand each other thoroughly, and she is going to make a most valuable ally. She will watch for you and give you this note, and keep Redfield engaged so that he will have no chance to talk to you until after you have read it.

"I shall try to see you tomorrow morning. I don't know just where I shall be tonight when you get home.

"Lovingly,

"Aunt Madge."

I took the sheets from the typewriter, signed my name with a pen to both original and carbon, blotted both, and then went over them for any typed errors. Then I turned and held out the original to Olina.

"Please read it," I said, "while I prepare the envelopes."

She read it through, and when I heard her give a gratified but quickly smothered, "Ah-h" I knew that she had reached my praise of her.

"Do you approve?" I asked, turning to her with the typed envelopes in my hands.

"Of course I do," she said. "Only, you have been far too kind to me."

She held the letter out to me and, taking it from her, I folded it, put it into its envelope and handed it back to her.

"I do not need to tell you to guard this carefully," I said. "It could be fatal if it fell into Steve Redfield's hands. And when you give it to Mary, ask her that she give it back to you when she has read it.

"You don't have to appear in the first act, and you will have time to burn it in your room before you have to go on. I can trust you to destroy it. Ordinarily I could trust Mary, but she will have much on her heart and mind tonight."

"I promise you that I will neither let Stephen Redfield get near her before I see her alone and give her this letter," Olina said solemnly, "nor will I leave her until she has given me back the letter. Then I will burn it at the very first opportunity."

"Thank you," I said with emphasis, then I picked up the painting which I had been studying.

"Do you mind?" I said, "if I keep this painting and letter with me for a while?"

"Of course I don't mind," she said. "They'll be safer with you than with me, I'm sure. But, if it's all right to ask you, do you agree with Steve that there may be a concealed message to me in the thing? I'll be thrilled to tears if there is."

"I do not know," I said. "Steve is nothing if not melodramatic, you know. He may have been seizing an opportunity to play the role of a big sleuth in order to impress you, or he really may have seen something in the letter.

"But I am going to give both letter and picture considerable study, and I'll let you know anything I find out. If Redfield asks you about your promise to give him a copy tonight, pretend to be most apologetic about your carelessness and say you forgot them and left them in my rooms."

Present Recital

Robert and Donald Hart, violinist and pianist, who presented a recital Friday evening at the Women's Club are not only accomplished musicians at the ages of 10 and 9 but are active in many other organizations. Sons of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Hart 350 Sturges avenue, they are enrolled in the Conservation of Vision and last year won a gardening prize for their outstanding work in a garden at their home. They spend much of their time doing scout work as they are both cub scouts, members of the Y. M. C. A. and the First Presbyterian church. At the close of the recital Friday evening Donald demonstrated his unusual talent for absolute pitch. Miss Ina Balliet, his instructor, played a series of notes which he identified immediately. Robert is a violin student of Mrs. Daisie Gibson.

Mrs. Hale Has Club Meeting At Her Home

Mrs. Waldo Hale was hostess to 14 members of the Pavonia Garden and Literary club and one guest, Mrs. J. E. Harper, at her home on the Ashland road Thursday evening. Mrs. Howard Meyer, jr., was associate hostess. Plans were made during the business session to do Red Cross work and to attend a district meeting at Centerburg.

"Fun As A Profit" was the subject of a paper presented by Mrs. Glenn Hout. Prizes in card games were awarded to Mrs. Marjorie Burkholder and Mrs. Howard Hiett. Valentine appointments were used when lunch was served. Mrs. Wesley Boals will entertain the club on March 5 at her home on the Ashland road.

Revelers' Club Holds Meeting

Mrs. John Brauchler, 642 Johns avenue, entertained members of the Revelers' club at her home Thursday evening. One guest, Mrs. Mary Stevens, was in attendance. Mrs. Katherine Heichel, president, conducted the business session. Pinochle was played and prizes won by Mrs. Gerald Smith, Mrs. Joseph Wentz and Mrs. Michael Wentz.

Luncheon was served at a long table decorated with red roses and sweet peas, lighted tapers and Valentine appointments. Gifts were presented to Mrs. Heichel who recently celebrated her birthday anniversary. The next meeting will be held Feb. 25 at the home of Mrs. Heichel, 210 Cline avenue.

HOROSCOPE

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, Feb. 15.

Sunday's horoscope holds augury of difficult and disappointing conditions with unforeseen disturbances and upheavals, which may vitally affect all relations and activities, and result in distressing reactions on the health and that of the household. The mind may be morbid and have eccentric or irregular disturbances, best restrained by sound philosophy or sabbatical occupations.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of sharp and unwelcome upheaval or devastating experience, which is not promising for great success or happiness. Its reactions may be felt most on the physical health.

A child born on this day will probably be erratic, unsettled and difficult to understand or direct. It should be helped with an optimistic and rational attitude toward life.

For Monday, Feb. 16.

Monday's astrological forecast is a rather indifferent one in various ways. There may be indifference in needful business application, with a similar indifference in social or personal affiliations. There is danger in seeking solace for the lack of keen interest or thrilling adventure by paying too high a price for compensation.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of routine matters in both business and personal affairs, in which there may be a disposition to while away the time or seek diversions of a rather extravagant or unjustifiable manner, probably through gambling, speculation, or other hazardous conduct or excesses.

A child born on this day will probably have mediocre talents and social aims but may be inclined to find its pleasures in games of chance or speculation.

CHARTER DRAPED.

The charter was draped for the late Brainard Hoffer when the Pocahontas lodge met Thursday evening in the Eagles hall. Mrs. Effie Stors presided for the business session. For the program, readings were given by Mrs. Nannie Lowman, Mrs. Anna Wigton and Mrs. Nora Sowash. Mrs. Elizabeth Konves was recipient of the club prize. Next meeting will be held Feb. 26 in the same lodge hall.

Garden Club Members Hold Luncheon Meet

Mrs. C. E. Payne gave an interesting paper on "What's New In the Seed Catalogues" at the luncheon meeting of the Linnaeus Garden club Friday at the home of Mrs. Charles Chew, Highland avenue. Mrs. Harvey Lanehart served as the associate hostess.

Fifteen members were in attendance. Favorite garden tools of the members were on display and a flower seed exchange was held. A two course luncheon was served at a long table attractively decorated with Valentine appointments and centered with sweetpeas. The next meeting will be held March 13 at the home of Mrs. S. E. Taylor, Lexington avenue. Mrs. Payne will serve as the associate hostess.

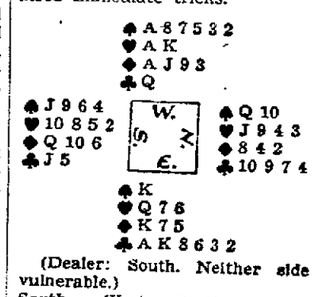
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

THE WORST DANGER

There is a good deal more to making a grand slam than the mere being able to take the first couple of tricks in each suit. Slam conventions which enable you to find out whether your partner has certain top cards are fine as far as they go, but you must not lean too heavily on them. Their greatest danger, in the hands of most players, is that they lure you into slams which cannot be made because you have to lose some of the lower tricks, to queens, jacks and still smaller cards. Seldom is there a deal on which you can make a grand slam unless it contains some suit in which you can run more than three immediate tricks.



(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	Pass	2 ♠	Pass
3 ♣	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
4 ♣	Pass	4 ♦	Pass
4 NT	Pass	5 ♠	Pass
5 NT	Pass	6 ♦	Pass
7 NT

As soon as he knew from North's Blackwood response that his partner had the three missing aces and the one missing king, South reckoned that this was Valentine's Day, indeed; so away he jumped into grand slam. And look what befell him?

West led his heart 2, and South counted up. Two sure tricks in spades, three in hearts, two in diamonds and three in clubs made only ten, and he had to get three more. Even if the diamond finesse would work and the suit also would divide three-three in the defenders' hands, those two breaks would still leave him one short of his goal. There was not even any sense in trying for the diamond breaks.

So South tried his only possible chance—to find the missing clubs divided evenly. So he scored the heart A and K, the club Q, the spade K, the club A and K. When West discarded on that, he knew he was beaten. He gave up a club, took his medicine and, we hope, learned a lesson from the hand.

* * *

Your Week-End Lesson.

Why is it that some of the country's leading players prefer not to use any artificial conventions for helping them in the bidding of slams? What is the greatest advantage they consider that gives them, to offset the lack of specific information about aces and kings which could be furnished by the artificial methods?

RECITAL GIVEN BY BOYS FRIDAY NIGHT

Donald and Robert Hart, Pianist and Violinist, In Recital of Classical Numbers at the Women's Club Friday.

DONALD HART, nine-year-old Mansfield pianist, was presented in a recital Friday at 8 p. m. at the Women's club by his instructor, Miss Ina Balliet. His brother, Robert, a violinist and a student of Mrs. Daisie Gibson, assisted during the program. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. George Hart, 350 Sturges avenue.

The first number on the program was "Chorale" (Jesulein Suss) by Bach and was played by Donald. His next two numbers were "Allegro" by Mozart and "Sonantina in G" by Beethoven. Robert Hart then played "Student Concerto No. 4", the last movement, by Adolph Huber accompanied at the piano by his brother. "How Can I Leave Thee" a Thuringian Folg-Song and excerpts from "H. M. S. Pinafore" by Gilbert and Sullivan.

Robert then played "Angel's Serenade" by Braga and "To a Wild Rose" by Edward MacDowell accompanied by Miss Balliet at the piano. Concluding the fine program selections Donald played "Prelude in A" by Chopin and "Liebesfreud" by Kreisler-Maier. Both boys are enrolled in the Conservation of Vision School.

Women's Society Has Meeting In Church Parlors

Members of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Central Methodist church held a meeting in the church parlors Thursday afternoon. Luncheon was served at noon by Mrs. L. A. Ogborn and her committee. The long table was decorated with patriotic appointments. Mrs. J. C. Stout, program chairman, introduced the new study book entitled, "The Christian Imperative" by R. P. Barnes.

Mrs. Albert Lamb and Mrs. Grant Ward reviewed the first chapter of the book. Mrs. George Ganyard led the devotions. Mrs. Rhetta Bonar sang a solo accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Louis Rahn. Mrs. R. K. Clark gave a paper on Current Events. A memorium service was given for the late Miss Cora Kennedy by Mrs. E. A. Conant. Following meetings of the circles a business session was conducted by the society president, Mrs. E. C. Jenkins. The meeting was closed with a prayer led by Mrs. Conont. The next regular session will be held March 5 at the church.

THIMBLE CLUB.

Mrs. Harvey Kibler was welcomed as a new member when the Thimble club met this week at the home of Mrs. Clarence Frank, 137 Hedges street. Luncheon was served at 1 o'clock. This was an all-day meeting. On Feb. 25, the group will meet with Mrs. Eva Birmelin, 520 Newman street.

Program Given At Meeting of Mothers Club

West Fifth street school Mothers club members held a meeting Thursday afternoon at the school. Mrs. Lloyd Stuck, president, conducted the business session. W. W. Blauser, school principal, introduced Mrs. J. M. Downs of the Children's Home, who was the guest speaker. Mrs. Downs gave an interesting and informative talk on her work at the home.

Six pupils from the class of Miss Betty Morrison gave readings. Miss Morrison's room also won the attendance prize. A contest was played and the prize won by Mrs. W. H. McCurdy. Luncheon was served at a long table decorated with Valentine appointments. Hostesses were Mrs. McCurdy, Mrs. James Brownscombe and Mrs. D. E. Nelson. Mrs. D. R. Miller and Miss Morrisson were in charge of the program. The next meeting will be held March 12 at the school.

Program Given At Meeting of Charity Band

Mrs. O. S. Garver entertained members of the Matlock Charity Band at her home on the Olivesburg road, Wednesday. Mrs. J. S. Boyd and Mrs. James Anderson were associate hostesses. Twelve members and three guests, Miss Alma Sterner, Mrs. Gross and Mrs. E. E. Poole, were in attendance. A covered-dish dinner was served at noon at a long table decorated with snapdragons and patriotic apopintments.

Sewing for the Red Cross and Welfare was done during the day. One hundred and fourteen pieces were finished for welfare. Mrs. Susan Wheaton, president, conducted a short business session. Mrs. Della Richardson led the devotions and gave several readings. The next all day meeting will be held at the North Lake park pavilion on March 10.

Loyal Daughters Plan for Dinner

Nineteen members and two guests, Mrs. Charles Finfgeld and Mrs. Henry Fiedler were present when the Loyal Daughters class of St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church met Thursday at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Maglott. Devotions led by the teacher, Miss Clara Yeager, opened the meeting.

After the business session, the time was spent in contests. Winners were Mrs. Ida Arnold, Mrs. Margaret Hunt, Miss Frieda Boebel and Mrs. Elizabeth Speas. Patriotic appointments were used when luncheon was served. The class will have a chicken dinner in the church parlors at 6 p. m. on March 12.

It is as hard to impose on some men the second time as it was easy to do it the first time.

THEATERS

Newspaper Yarn.

Spencer Tracy and Katharine Hepburn bring the zestful roles of two newspaper writers to the screen in "Woman of the Year," a romantic comedy, at the Ohio. The clash between the two as sports writer and columnist on international events continue after marriage even as before until their managing editor is forced to order an armistice. Miss Hepburn plays the columnist who lets her husband get breakfast while she pounds out her stint for the paper. The cast includes Reginald Owen as the managing editor; Fay Bainter, an imposing figure in public life, Roscoe Karns and Gladys Blake.

* * *

Striking Drama.

Bette Davis has another electrifying emotional role in "The Little Foxes," Lillian Hellman's play, opening today at the Madison. As a ruthless power-mad young wife and mother she defrauds her brothers, sacrifices her daughter and causes the death of her husband. Playing the role that Tallulah Bankhead brought to the stage Miss Davis is supported by Herbert Marshall as the husband, Teresa Wright of the Broadway stage as the daughter and a number of actors from the original stage company. A mystery comedy, "The Body Disappears," with Jeffrey Lynn and Jane Wyman is the second attraction.

* * *

Romantic Drama.

"One Foot in Heaven," featuring Fredric March and Martha Scott opens Sunday at the Ritz. Betty Grable and Victor Mature top the cast in the second feature, "I Wake Up Screaming."

* * *

Small-Town Comedy.

The troubled efforts of Fibber McGee and Molly to persuade an airplane manufacturer to purchase a dilapidated flying field in a midwestern village provide the amusing theme of "Look Who's Laughing," showing at the Park. Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy enter the scene when Bergen's plane is forced down in the village and he becomes McGee's guest. Bergen plays his real-life role that of a famed ventriloquist and Lucille Ball is cast as his beautiful secretary. The East End Kids are featured in Bela Lugosi's starring picture, "Spooks Run Wild," the co-attraction.

* * *

Absorbing Story.

"Date With the Falcon," with George Sanders and Wendy Barrie tops the bill at the Majestic, Saturday and Sunday. Bill Elliott and Tex Ritter head the cast in "Lone Star Vigilante," the second picture.

Mansfield Swamps Hamilton 44 to 19 In Cage Melee

Sport Podge by REX HESS

Stories coming out of the Mid-Atlantic league meeting at Canton Thursday night that the Mad-A is considering Lima as a replacement for Akron in the Class "C" circuit should surprise no one in this territory.

Way last summer, long before Akron writers would admit that the New York Yankees were pulling out of the Rubber City, this corner passed along the word that Mansfield had a good chance of taking over the Akron franchise in the Mad-A.

And if an ideal site for a new baseball diamond could have been found here at that time, the Mad-A might be casting eyes at Mansfield today, instead of Lima.

* * *

Lima isn't interested in joining the Mad-A. Dale Cremean, secretary-treasurer of the Pandas, declared in Lima yesterday: "The Pandas will remain in the Ohio State league as long as it operates."

If Lima should fall victim to pressure, and glowing sales talks, and should desert the Ohio State loop, there's no denying it would be a body blow to Joe Donnelly's circuit.

But it wouldn't wreck the Ohio State league in one year. Either Marion or Galion could carry the load for that length of time. Marion is big enough and Galion is enthusiastic enough.

* * *

So don't get antas in the pantas
Because the league might lose the Pandas.

* * *

The mystery of Mansfield's plans for the 1942 Ohio State league season has been partially cleared up. League Prexy Donnelly voted a Mansfield proxy at the Tiffin organization meeting on the say-so of Braves Prexy George Satterlee.

Returning from the Tiffin meeting, Donnelly stopped off in Fremont and told Scribe Dick Behr that Satterlee had informed him Mansfield would definitely be in the league, and might be in a new ball park.

Until Satterlee digs out of the snowdrifts of upper New York state and returns home in a week or so, the final word probably will be left unspoken.

* * *

See where "Hard Hank" Clabaugh, the Galion bullet, has joined up with the navy.

He should have enlisted in the baby tank division of the army. He could have saved Uncle Sam the expense of encasing him in that mobile armor.

* * *

A baby tank all by himself is "Hard Hank," as any of the Galion pro gridders' opponents of last fall will tell you.

HEISTAND WINS

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(AP)—Friday the 13th was just another day to Joe Heistand of Hillsboro. The "gentleman farmer," firing from 23 yards, smashed 95 of 100 targets yesterday to win the Sunshine City handicap.

Conn Wins Easily Over Zale

Good Big Man Again Beats Good Little One.

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK—(AP)—It is still 1 to 5 along Bash boulevard today that a good big man can beat a good little one almost any evening, but there is considerable fresh evidence in Tony Zale's showing against Billy Conn that the little guy sometimes can make the big one look like something less than a million dollars.

* * *

This is not to say that Sweet William's 12-round victory in Madison Square Garden last night before a crowd of 15,033 wasn't a lop-sided one over the outweighed middleweight champion. Billy was off by himself, 10 rounds to two, although some of the heats may have been closer than the score indicates.

* * *

However, the body bombs with which Tony thumped Billy and the trouble Conn appeared to have in solving the Indiana steel man's crouching, weaving style, made Johnny Ray change his mind about the immediate future of his "junior." Up to yesterday, Johnny figured the Zale tussle would be the last big one for Billy before his scheduled return go with Joe Louis in June. After watching Conn's somewhat indifferent performance, compared with the sparkling jobs in his previous New York outings, Johnny decided one more major trip to the post wouldn't do any harm.

So today he's going to talk it over with Promoter Mike Jacobs, and the chances are Billy will have a whirl with either Lou Nova, the W. K. California cosmic expert, or Gus Lesnevich, the light heavyweight boss, before he takes on the No. 1 boy again.

Zale was in there trying all the way, although outweighed 164¼ to 175¾, and made quite a hit with the customers. The result was that Promoter Mike came up with the idea of matching Tony with Jimmy Webb, the handsome Houston light heavyweight who fought an eight round draw with durable Johnny Colan in last night's semi-final.

Bellville Beats Shiloh, 44-25

BELLVILLE — Behind terrific shooting of George Stoodt who caged 26 points all by himself, the Blue Jays last night tripped Shiloh, 44-25, in a Richland county loop tilt.

Bellville led, 9-5, at the quarter and 18-9 at the half. Highest scoring quarter, however, was the third when the Jays gathered in 14 points ta lead, 32-14.

This Team Really Means 'V' for Victory

Meet those touring sailors, the Great Lakes Naval Training Station team of former college stars, a team which has cut a victory path up and down the land against the best collegiate teams in the country. Prior to departing for Seattle, Wash., where they met the University of Washington team Feb. 16, the Great Lakes team had won 28 out of 32 games. Among the victims were several Big Ten schools and Notre Dame. Starting from upper left the team members are Bob Calihan, Detroit All-American; Dick Klein, a leading scorer when at Northwestern; Lee Huber of Kentucky; Jim Prakup of DePaul; Jim Van Orsdel of Miami, O., U.; Forrest Anderson of Stanford; Jim Currie of Northwestern; Frank Baumholtz, Ohio U. All-American; George Rung of Miami; Ernie Andres, Indiana All-American; Les Bruckner of Michigan State; John Adams of Arkansas, and Bill Menke, Indiana All-American.

Mounts Beat Marietta Five

Baldwin-Wallace Scores Victory Over Case.

(By Associated Press)

Mount Union's basketball team chalked up another victory last night in its drive to catch Ohio conference leaders by defeating Marietta in the river city, 58 to 40.

The visitors owed their victory largely to Forward Charles Joachim and Center Stan Baughman, who between them made 39 points.

In another Ohio conference tilt at Cleveland, Baldwin-Wallace pushed to a 49-34 victory over Case.

DAN TAYLOR GETS NEW JOB WITH INDIANS

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Dan Taylor, for 10 years a sports writer for the Cleveland News, is the Cleveland Indians' new publicity man. The American leaguers announced last night the selection of Taylor, formerly sports editor for the Lorain Times-Herald and the old Cleveland Times.

The Tribe also reported that Vernon Kennedy, veteran right-hander, was the 11th of 16 hurlers to sign his contract.

Loudonville Streak Ends

Grimesmen Beaten In Loop Play After Two Years.

MILLERSBURG — Loudonville high school cagers were beaten in Central Buckeye league play last night for the first time in two years by Millersburg, 41-37.

* * *

Last Wednesday the Red Birds shaded the Madison Rams, 34-30, for their 13th win in 14 games, but last night the pack leading Cardinals just couldn't continue the pace.

* * *

Bud Darling, center for the Grimesmen, however took the scoring honors with eight buckets for 16 points.

Although defeated, Loudonville was assured of at least a tie for the Central Buckeye league title as Wooster defeated Rittman. With two more games to go, the Red Birds have lost only one game, and second place Rittman has dropped three. It will be the third straight league championship for Coach Leo Grimes' Birds.

Joe Romano Connects For 21 Points, Stars

Fans Find Tygers Not Mediocre As Paper Led Them To Believe

MANSFIELD," so the Hamilton Journal-News informed its trusting readers Friday afternoon, "is one of northern Ohio's mediocre basketball teams."

Last night at Hamilton the "mediocre" Mansfields swamped the hapless home hopefuls 44-19. (Correct—Forty-Four to Nineteen.)

What the good burghers of Hamilton, O., must think today of northern Ohio's good teams must be a matter for conjecture. Now that they've seen one of the mediocre clubs from this section of the state.

* * *

Hamilton was unfortunate enough to catch Coach Vern Hoffman's hoopsters in the midst of another heat wave last night, but the Tyger tutor, looking ahead to tonight's tough battle at Springfield, opened the gates of mercy and let his second team play almost the entire last half.

* * *

Big Bob Winbigler spent most of his evening acting as keyman in the Tyger passwork, and thereby passed up a chance to gain a new all-time Mansfield high scoring record for a season. Windy collected seven points to boost his season's total to 210, one short of Al Roth's 211 garnered in 1922.

Joe Romano, subbing for Dean Hahn, took over the heavy scoring chores for the evening, finding the hoop for 21 points on nine buckets and three free tosses.

Hahn suffered an eye injury early in the game, and missed out on the bucket barrage the Tygers turned loose.

* * *

While Romano was starring in the offensive department, Ken Krupp was shining on defense. It was largely because of Krupp's efficient work under the hoops that Mansfield controlled the ball through most of the tilt.

* * *

Hoffman used his entire squad of 11 players during the melee, and eight of them broke into the scoring.

The Tygers stayed in Hamilton last night and moved on to Springfield today.

OFFICIALS AT GALION STUDY WPA PROPOSAL

Agency Seeks Removal of 300 Tons of Old Car Rails For War Use.

GALION — Rails which are embedded in Harding Way, North Washington street, a section of East Payne avenue and Fairview avenue, representing approximately 300 tons of steel, is hoped to be the object of a WPA project for their removal and use in supplying material for war production. The rails were formerly used by the old Cleveland and Southwestern Railway company.

Before the project can be undertaken, it must first be determined if the rails are owned by the city or the receiver for the traction company, city officials said. WPA officials made a trip to Galion Frinday to investigate the possibility of removal of the rails.

Keeps 'Em Rolling 24 Years

Because of a wartime shortage of men, Mrs. Bertha Gonder, above, went to work as an engine wiper in Livingston, Mont., roundhouse of the Northern Pacific railroad. That was in World war I. When other women workers left the service after the war, Mrs. Gonder remained on the job because she had a family of eight to support. Today in World war II she is still on the job—keeping 'em rolling. In two years she will be eligible for retirement on a pension.

PLEADS GUILTY

CINCINNATI —(INS)— A guilty plea to a charge that he participated in a $15,000 diamond robbery in downtown Cincinnati last Armistice day was entered before Judge Charles S. Bell by George Fielder, of Louisville, Ky. He was committed to Longview state hospital for observation.

SYNOPSIS

Judith Barth, a young fashion artist in New York, rushes from her office to her apartment to make last-minute preparations to attend the marriage of Phyllis Conover, a mediocre artist, and Ames Preston. Phyllis has been sharing the apartment with Judith. Riding impatiently in a taxicab, Judith wonders how Phyllis would fit into the conventional life of Ames. He is a minor executive in a company of which his father, a widower, was an important official. Immediately after their marriage Phyllis and Ames would leave on a two-weeks' cruise to the tropics. It seems to Judith that Phyllis is not looking beyond the honeymoon trip, is not considering the many years of marriage. Judith shrinks from the thought of marrying just an average man. She is more complex than Phyllis. Judith finds the apartment topsy-turvy and Phyllis excited and happy. The bridal party accompanies Ames and Phyllis to the pier. Judith's escort is Robert Kennedy, cynical and shallow, who was Ames' best man. As the ship leaves Max Worthington, whom Kennedy had met on a cruise, appears. Kennedy introduces Max to Judith, who is pleasantly stirred by this stranger. After a few casual remarks Max leaves. But Judith is unable to forget him and wonders whether they will ever meet again. Emily Travers, a secretary, who is to share the apartment with Judith, has a new beau, Tim, a wealthy young man. She and Judith plan a dinner party, inviting Tim and also Sid Biddison, who comes from Judith's home town, Clinton. Judith is thrilled when Max calls up and invites her to dinner.

CHAPTER III

Time moved too slowly that week. Judith ceased to plan and decided not to write her parents that she was coming home the following week-end because of the persistent and disturbing hope that Max would want to see her then. In anticipation of Friday evening she was impatient and restless and—a little frightened. For there was something frightening about Max, a power in him that made her less of the self-possessed girl she had been. Her mind turned to clothes and the probable place where he would take her to dine.

Would she be found wanting? That had never occurred to her before in her friendship with the boys at home and the young men she had met in New York she had never tried to be other than completely herself. No one had ever mattered very much. No one before had ever sent sparks flying across her mind, lighting her imagination. Never before in the passing parade of faces on the streets of New York had she looked eagerly and hopefully for one man's face. Never before had her own face interested her so much—because it was a face that Max would see and study and either accept or reject.

Giles Benson, the advertising manager, a small, dynamic man invariably informal with his staff, rode down on the elevator with her on Wednesday evening.

"Swell sketch you turned in yesterday, Judith. Had something special. If you keep it up, I'll have to give you a raise."

She smiled at him. "Thanks. Then I'll have to keep it up, won't I?"

Stepping onto the crowded street she thought, "Emily has moved in and I'm going to meet Tim Stevens. My mind is a sieve!"

Emily and Tim and Sid were obviously enjoying a pleasant conversation when she reached the apartment. Emily, in a new gray velveteen frock, was sitting on the divan beside Tim, her face radiant. Judith smiled at Sid, a young man of medium height with close-cropped curly hair, thin lips and kind eyes, and received his mild but always approving smile in return before she turned to Tim.

* * *

Emily had been right. He would send you orchids and make you laugh, this tall, black-haired, black-eyed person with a dimple in his chin and mischief in his eyes. All the better things of life, Emily had said, too. Judith sensed in him vitality and restlessness coupled with irresponsibility, a warmth and friendliness to which she responded at once.

You would never spend a quiet evening with him, she thought. You would play with him, play hard and merrily, never pausing to think what you had lost or gained. And though today he sat in her living room holding Emily's delicate hand, Judith saw him on the beach at Nassau, at a debutante's ball, in a stately dining room in Connecticut with his family, saw him holding the hands of an assortment of girls in the past and in the years to come.

Emily said, "Judith, this is Tim . . ."

Tim held out his hand and smiled his easy, charming smile. "Hi, Judith. I delivered your roommate safe and sound." He did not weigh his words, as Max did. "We had one casualty however. Coming through the lobby of the morgue where Emily's been living, one of her bags came open and I had to go down on all fours to pick up the stuff."

"After that, I should think you'd want a cocktail," Judith said.

"I'll mix them," Tim said. "I'm an old hand. We'll mix them, Emily. Let's go, honey . . . Where's the kitchen?"

When they went to the kitchen Judith said to Sid, "Aren't you afraid of what they'll bring us to drink? I'm going to freshen up a bit. I won't be long."

She went to her bedroom and changed from her business suit to a black silk frock, hearing through the closed doors Tim and Emily's laughter. Standing still before the dressing table with a lip-stick in her hand, she thought, "Will Max and I be like that? Will I wear my feelings on my face as Emily does? Is it wiser to show them or wiser to hide them?"

* * *

Tim became a self-designated host while day ended and evening began and the four of them sat around a crystal cocktail shaker. Tim was charming and entertaining, the center of attention which, Judith felt, he had always been. Unlike Bob, a painful memory, Tim was natural and unself-conscious and Judith sensed in him no design to be in the limelight, but rather that, having been in it so long, he was accustomed to it. Of the many places he had been he spoke with modesty and in his stories invariably poked fun at himself.

"I got stranded in Italy once and in a small city where I was walking down the street I saw that soft drinks were for sale. An American drink was just what I wanted and I went in the store—it was a sort of five and dime place—and tried to buy one. I couldn't speak Italian so I pointed to the bottles and held out Italian money.

"I didn't know what the clerk was saying but I knew from his wild gesticulations that he wouldn't sell me what I wanted. By this time everybody in the store was cluttered about us and trying to help, but nobody knew English. I couldn't buy a five-cent drink for any amount of money. After a long time the clerk sent out for somebody who could speak English and the chap came running in and explained that you had to buy a certain amount of notions and then they would give you a soft drink. They'd give you one, but they wouldn't sell you one unless you bought a lot of safety pins and elastic and stuff. So I bought a lot of junk and they gave me a drink and everybody stood about gawking and grinning while I drank it."

"How did you happen to be stranded?" Sid asked, drawing in on his pipe.

"I missed my ship and had a whooping good time for a few days with practically no money. More cocktails, folks?"

Fannie announced dinner then and they went into the dinette where candlelight shed a pale radiance over silver and lace and autumn flowers.

It was in the soft candlelight that Judith saw Tim and Emily exchange sweet, intimate glances. Tim's glance was as warm and as tender as Emily's. That it was also sincere comforted her as she thought, "He's in love with Emily—terribly in love with her. Will Max and I be in love? What is it to be in love like that?"

After dinner Tim and Emily did not linger long. They departed like two excited children going to their first picnic.

Sid laughed his quiet laugh. "He's a sort of tidal wave, but he's a very likable. Are you sure you didn't want to go with them?"

Judith smiled. "Do you think we were wanted?"

There was no strain in talking to Sid who was like a gentle older brother and she was certain he had never had a romantic thought about her. Presently he lighted his pipe again, crossed his legs and spoke of his family, friends of her family in Clinton for many years, of books, or current world events and an amusing episode at his office.

2—Card of Thanks

WE WISH to express our deepest gratitude and sincere thanks to our many friends, relatives, neighbors, and all who were so generous in their many acts of kindness, expression of sympathy, and beautiful floral tributes, in the loss of our beloved husband, son and brother Ernest L. Berry. Especially do we wish to thank Rev. Kern for his kind words of consolation and to the Wappner Funeral Home and to the pall bearers.
MRS. DELLA BERRY
AND FAMILY,
MRS. HENRIETTA BERRY
AND FAMILY.

WITH REGARD TO A CARD OF THANKS

Very often a Card of Thanks in The News-Journal meets a need which can hardly be solved in any other way. Not only is it a gracious expression of gratitude to those who have sent floral tributes, but also courteously acknowledges the service and kindness of the many to whom a personal note of thanks cannot well be mailed, or whose names or addresses are not known.

A "Card of Thanks" can now be arranged by telephone: Dial 4251-6, ask for Miss Lane or Miss Stone, either will be glad to render whatever service and advice you need.

I SHOULD THINK THE F. B. I. COULD DO ALL OF THAT! DAVID'S NEVER SAID ANYTHING ABOUT IT, EITHER!
AND ALL THAT MONEY THEY'RE TO PAY ME--MR. WENTWORTH SAID IT WAS PART OF A BIG REWARD THAT HAD BEEN OFFERED FOR....
--APPREHENDING WHOEVER WAS GUILTY OF THIS "LEAK" THAT THEY'RE SO CERTAIN IS THIS BIG MAN!
PAMELA! WILL YOU COME IN FOR A LITTLE DICTATION, PLEASE? I RANG, BUT I GUESS YOU DIDN'T HEAR ME!
OH, COLONEL, DO FORGIVE ME--I'M SO SORRY!

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—Darkest Hour. By Harold Gray

A HUNDRED AND FIVE! AND GOING UP! DELIRIOUS! BABBLING OF "DADDY"-- "DADDY"! THE POOR, POOR LITTLE TYKE-2-14-42.
PNEUMONIA, BAH! IT'S A BROKEN HEART THAT'S KILLING HER-SHE DOESN'T WANT TO LIVE! THE SHOTS DON'T SEEM TO TAKE EFFECT---NOTHING SEEMS TO HELP!
AND I'M A DOCTOR! PHOOIE! A "MEDICINE MAN"- "PILL SHOOTER"- A PHONY---A FAILURE!
NO! DON'T TALK LIKE THAT--BUT COME--HELP ME MOVE HER BED-
KATIE! I'M A WEAKLING! A COWARD! WHEN I LOOK AT YOU AND WATCH THE WAY YOU CARRY ON, I REALIZE IT--- OH, KATIE! WE'VE GOT TO WIN THIS ONE-
YOU'RE NOT A COWARD AND YOU'RE NOT WEAK, DOCTOR! AND WE WILL WIN!
HAROLD GRAY

STOCK LEADERS SHOW FURTHER UPWARD TREND

Flattening Out of Lumber Business Noted; Loans Continue Climb.

NEW YORK—Further moderate advancing tendencies wered isplayed by leading stocks in today's early market transactions.

Boardrooms noted the survey of the National Lumber Manufacturers' association which disclosed a flattening out of activities in this field. For the week ended Feb. 7 it was estimated both production and new orders were under the previous week and the corresponding period last year.

Interest was shown in the summary of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York placing commercial, industrial and agricultural loans for member institutions for the week concluded Wedesday at $55,000,000 above the preceding week. It was one of the largest increases in years and was attributed partly to borrowing by companies to meet their tax bills.

BRITISH FIGHT DOGGEDLY ON AT SINGAPORE

Keep Enemy From Heart of City Despite Heavy Bombing, Shelling.

"In Singapore City, itself, civil defenses are making every effort to deal with damage and civil causalties caused by the hostile bombing and shelling."

Earlier terrific battles were reported raging east and south of the island's two main water reservoirs.

An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Batavia declared that Singapore's water supply was still under British control.

Ships running the gantlet from Singapore to Batavia with evacuees aboard were said to have been bombed virtually every five minutes by swarms of Japanese planes who sought to prevent their arrival.

Nevertheless, according to all indications, practically all of the ships seemed to be getting through.

The defenders of the island bastion kept fighting despite artillery fire and continuous Japanese air attacks.

(The Japanese news agency admitted that the British defense forces "continued to counter-attack today."

(A Berlin radio broadcast heard by NBC said today that Tokyo has stated only three-fifths of Singapore island is in Japanese possession.

(A British broadcast recorded by NBC quoted a Singapore radio announcement that "all positions on Singapore island are holding.")

(The Vichy news agency reported from Saigon, however, that the Japanese are believed to be in possession of both reservoirs on Singapore island, chief sources of the city's water supply.

(This account said the British fortress at Changi on the northeastern section of Singapore island was holding out and continuing its artillery bombardment. It added that the main target of Japanese bombers was the fort on the island of Blakang Mati, south of Singapore City.)

Japanese pressure increased on land as well as in the air, but the British were determined to yield ground only at the highest possible cost in life and material to the Japanese.

According to the London Daily Telegraph, the Singapore radio reported at 10 o'clock, Singapore time, last night:

"A high rate of fire is being maintained. At one point British artillery is raining 400 shells an hour into the Japanese lines."

(A British radio broadcast heard by CBS and NBC said that many women and children, including more than 7,000 of the 10,000 Europeans, had left Singapore by the end of last month.

(The broadcast added that the entire staff of the Singapore and Penang harbor force are now known to have been saved three days ago—and their wives and children have been evacuated.)

Earlier, a Singapore broadcast had announced that the Japs were "not having everything their own way," but there was no elaboration of this laconic declaration.

Advices reaching London said that yesterday morning the defenders had counter-attacked "with successes" in the Jurong area.

Like the defenders, the civilian population of Singapore City refused to give up hope.

With destruction being rained on them from the skies and with the Japanese land forces battering virtually at their gates, they did their best to conduct business as usual. Large commercial houses and foodshops remained open.

The heaviest fighting was in progress west of the city, and another battle raged around the two main water reservoirs in the center of the island.

Will Die Rather Than Yield To Japs

CALCUTTA —(U.P.)— British imperials defending Singapore "are determined to die" rather than yield to the Japanese tank, aerial and artillery onslaught, the Singapore radio said today.

The voice of the Singapore broadcast, coming defiantly from the center of a furious last-ditch battle on the island, calmly told the Asian world that every inch of the battleground was being contested and that the defenders still were counter attacking the overwhelming Japanese forces.

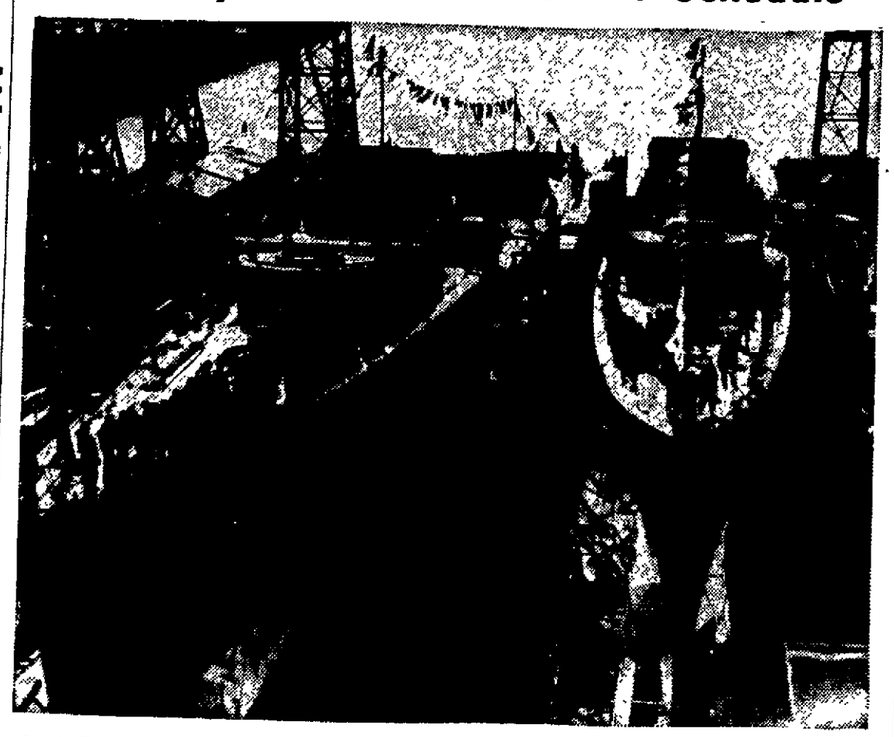
Destroyers Launched Ahead of Schedule



Uncle Sam adds two new destroyers to his rapidly-expanding naval forces with the launching of the twin destroyers U. S. S. Gherardi, left, and the U. S. S. Butler at the Philadelphia navy yard. The two vessels, along with a third, the cruiser Montpelier, launched at Camden, N. J., were completed four to five months ahead of schedule. All were launched within 10 minutes of each other.

HOSPITAL WARD QUARANTINED

gan a check on patients released within the past week.

Hospital authorities said that a constant check was being kept on the ward and that it had already been scrubbed with soap and water and that it was being aired thoroughly.

Dr. A. O. Fonkalsrud, superintendent of the hospital said that all hospital employes had been checked. He stated that he believed the disease had been brought to the hospital by a patient or visitor.

Persons released from the hospital within seven days before or after the placing of the quarantine will be kept under quarantine for at least one week from their release.

"The doctors will just have to go back to the methods that their fathers and grandfathers practiced," said Dr. Wild, "and deliver the babies in the homes."

Women in the ward expecting babies will either remain there until after their birth or if their doctors request it, will be removed to their own homes. Dr. Wild said that the quarantine would be in effect regardless of whether they remain or are taken to their homes.

The health commissioner said that the hospital probably would not be able to admit new patients to the ward for several days after the release of the last of the women confined there now.

Japs Claim Capture Of Inner Singapore

TOKYO (By Official Japanese Wireless)—(INS)—Japanese troops have occupied the inner part of Singapore city and are pushing toward the dock area, Domei (Japanese) news agency claimed today.

Fierce hand-to-hand street fighting was said to be in progress, while the British were conceded to be putting up stiff resistance at numerous points on the island.

Singapore's streets are filled with the bodies of dead and wounded British imperial troops, it was asserted, and fires are raging in various parts of the city.

British troops were said to be continuing their resistance at Seletar on the north coast opposite Johore, and at Fort Changi on the east coast.

(Editor's note—Earlier Domei claimed that all resistance at Seletar had been broken and the naval base occupied by the Japanese.)

The heaviest fighting is taking place around the race course, it was stated.

Domei also advanced a claim to the effect that Japanese forces captured the Singapore railway station and then advanced within two miles of the center of Singapore city.

VALENTINES IN MAILMAN'S PACK

Dan Cupid Has His Day as Thousands of Mansfielders Send Greetings.

all the recipient has to do to learn the name of the sender is put the puzzle together again.

The so-called comics were back on the market to delight the wag who sends them. Their pointed jingles about in-laws, college cuties and "keeping up with the Joneses" are now although the subjects themselves have worn a bit thin.

It's the fancy valentine that has shown the greatest improvement. Shorn of their old-time gew-gaws the 1942 models come wrapped in cellophane and are no less than works of art. They are simply and beautifully designed with flower, bird and fan motifs and executed in jewel-toned papers with touches of lace, feathers and "everlasting flowers" that once grew in a garden.

All these—and children's valentines too—from Donald Duck to lolly-pops flooded the mails today making a second Christmas for the postman and time of gay and tender sentiment for every participant.

U. S. Pilots Give Japs Worst Licking

WASHINGTON—(INS)—Trained in new pursuit tactics, American pilots in the Chinese air force are giving the Japanese airmen their worst licking of the war, and are knocking down more than ten enemy planes for every loss of their own, according to a resume of their accomplishments published today by the war department in the air forces news letter.

The report states that at the end of January the American detachment, known in China as "The Flying Tigers" had destroyed at least 135 Japanese planes in the air and wrecked another 50 on the ground.

In less than two months, the account says, they have driven enemy bombers from the vital Burma road, parried heavy aerial thrusts at Rangoon, and blasted Japanese air bases in Thailand and Indo-China. The last report states that only 11 American pilots have been lost.

UNEMPLOYMENT AT LOW

NEW YORK—(INS)—Unemployment has dropped to the lowest level since 1930, the division of industrial economics of the national industrial conference board reported today. The board estimated the average number of unemployed at 3,500,000.

WOMEN SLAIN IN BLACKOUTS

London Probes Four Mystery Stabbings In City.

LONDON —(AP)— The mystery of the blackout murders—in which four women have been strangled and stabbed during the past five days—swung into its first official hearing today at the inquest of blonde, statuesque Mrs. Evelyn Oatley, a former chorus girl.

Throughout the blacked-out night, police reserves patrolled London's fashionable west end, alerted by Scotland Yard's search for the unknown killers.

Mrs. Oatley died from stab wounds. Mrs. Marguerite Low was found strangled in her apartment. Mrs. Doris Joanette was strangled and stabbed. Evelyn Hamilton's strangled body was found in an air raid shelter.

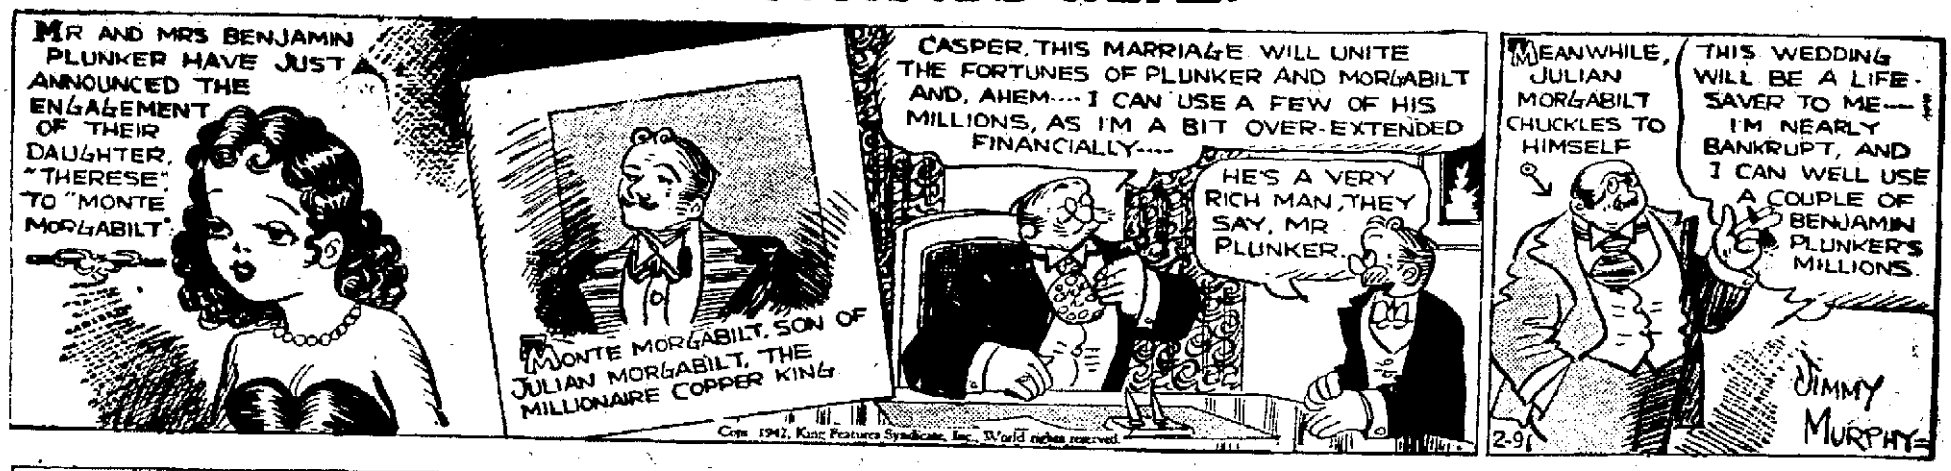
TOOTS AND CASPER



MR AND MRS BENJAMIN PLUNKER HAVE JUST ANNOUNCED THE ENGAGEMENT OF THEIR DAUGHTER, "THERESE", TO "MONTE MORGABILT".
MONTE MORGABILT, SON OF JULIAN MORGABILT, THE MILLIONAIRE COPPER KING
CASPER, THIS MARRIAGE WILL UNITE THE FORTUNES OF PLUNKER AND MORGABILT AND, AHEM---I CAN USE A FEW OF HIS MILLIONS, AS I'M A BIT OVER-EXTENDED FINANCIALLY---- HE'S A VERY RICH MAN, THEY SAY, MR PLUNKER.
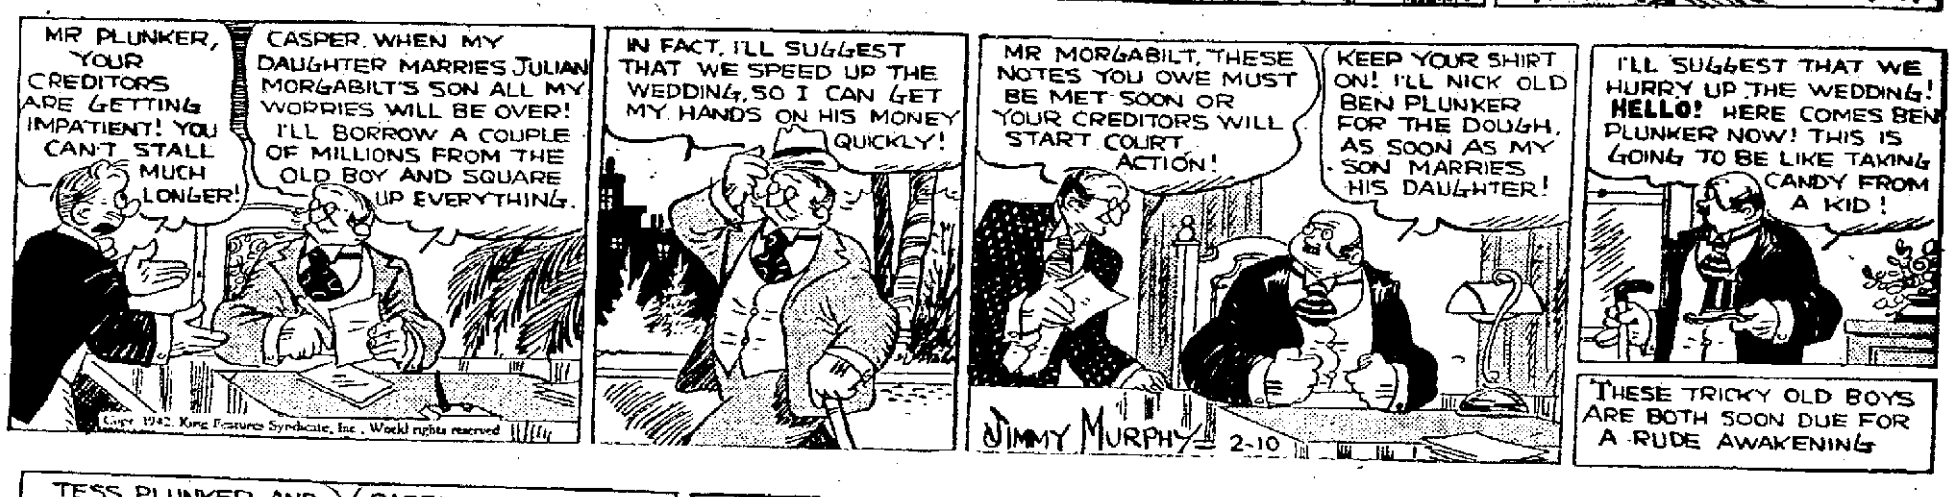
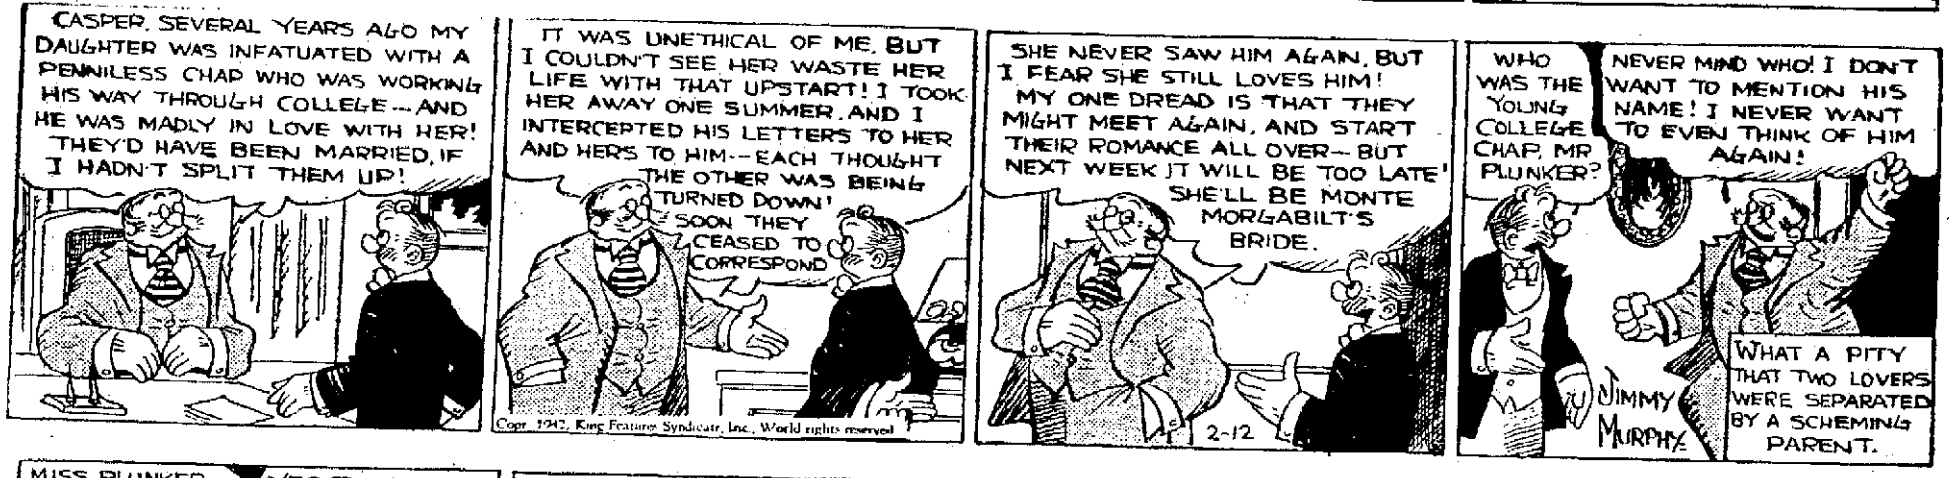
Copr. 1942, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
MEANWHILE, JULIAN MORGABILT CHUCKLES TO HIMSELF
THIS WEDDING WILL BE A LIFE-SAVER TO ME---I'M NEARLY BANKRUPT, AND I CAN WELL USE A COUPLE OF BENJAMIN PLUNKER'S MILLIONS.
2-9
JIMMY MURPHY

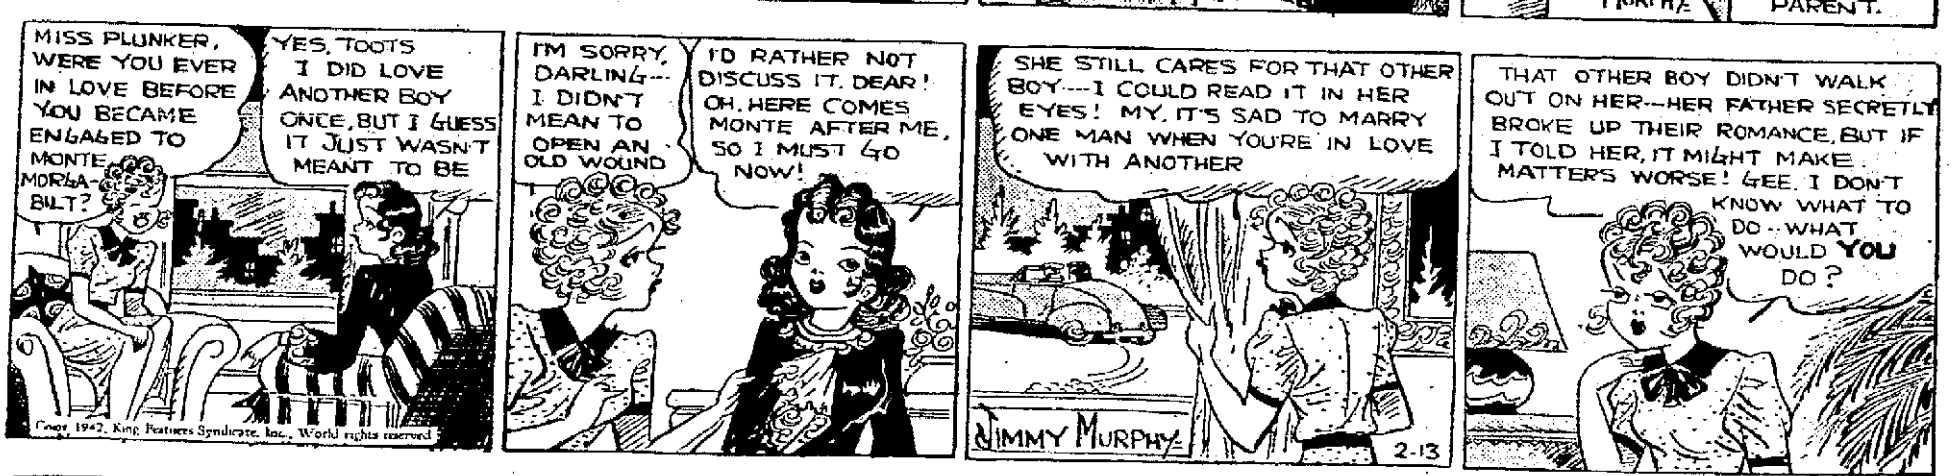


MR PLUNKER, YOUR CREDITORS ARE GETTING IMPATIENT! YOU CAN'T STALL MUCH LONGER!
CASPER, WHEN MY DAUGHTER MARRIES JULIAN MORGABILT'S SON ALL MY WORRIES WILL BE OVER! I'LL BORROW A COUPLE OF MILLIONS FROM THE OLD BOY AND SQUARE UP EVERYTHING.
Copr. 1942, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
IN FACT, I'LL SUGGEST THAT WE SPEED UP THE WEDDING, SO I CAN GET MY HANDS ON HIS MONEY QUICKLY!
MR MORGABILT, THESE NOTES YOU OWE MUST BE MET SOON OR YOUR CREDITORS WILL START COURT ACTION!
KEEP YOUR SHIRT ON! I'LL NICK OLD BEN PLUNKER FOR THE DOUGH, AS SOON AS MY SON MARRIES HIS DAUGHTER!
JIMMY MURPHY 2-10
I'LL SUGGEST THAT WE HURRY UP THE WEDDING! HELLO! HERE COMES BEN PLUNKER NOW! THIS IS GOING TO BE LIKE TAKING CANDY FROM A KID!
THESE TRICKY OLD BOYS ARE BOTH SOON DUE FOR A RUDE AWAKENING

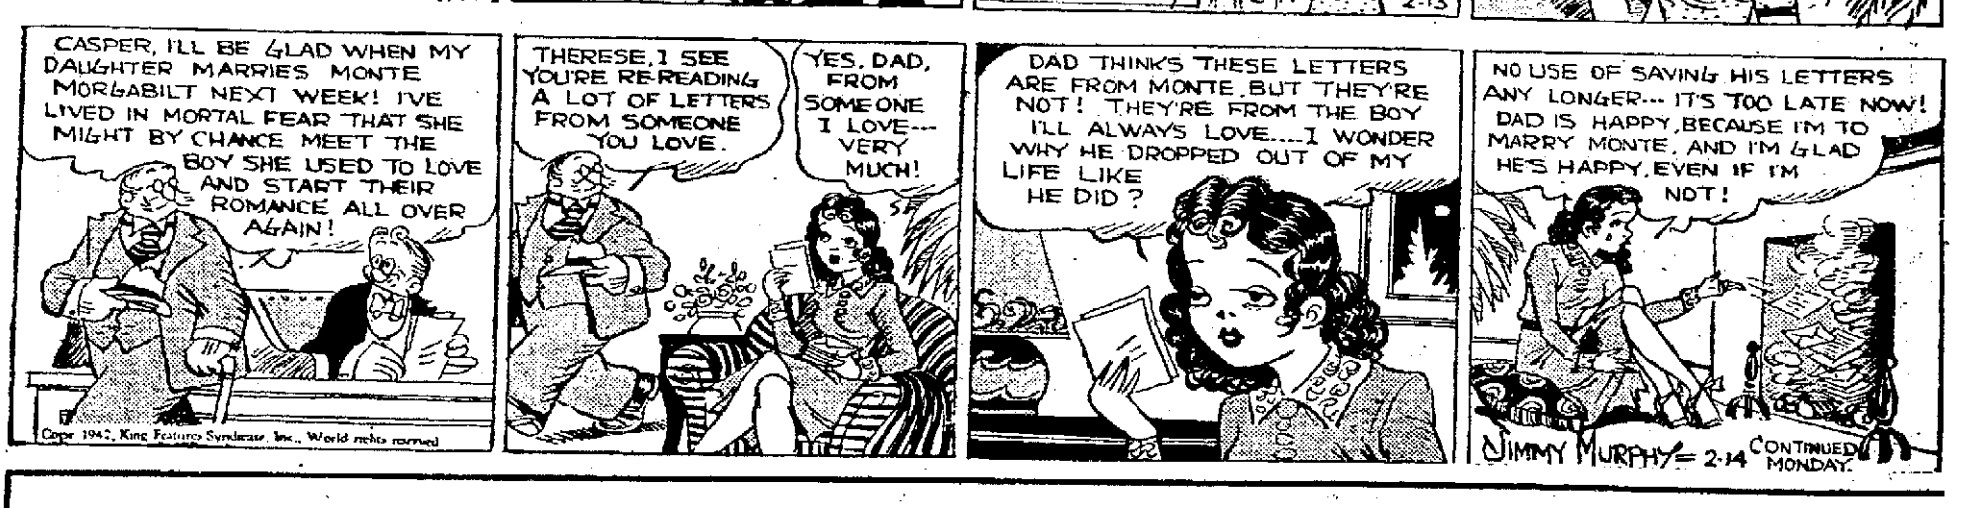
TESS PLUNKER AND MONTE MORGABILT ARE GONNA BE MARRIED THE END OF NEXT WEEK, TOOTS!
CASPER, LET'S GIVE A PARTY FOR THEM SOON---EVERYBODY IS ENTERTAINING THEM!
MY DAUGHTER HAS LANDED A FINE BOY IN YOUNG MORGABILT! HE'S FROM A RICH AND PROMINENT FAMILY---AND---AHEM--- IT WAS THROUGH ME THAT SHE'S FREE TO MARRY HIM---- ARUMFF---
Copr. 1942, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
SEVERAL YEARS AGO SHE WAS MADLY IN LOVE WITH A YOUNG CHAP WHO WAS WORKING HIS WAY THROUGH COLLEGE---- A PENNILESS NOBODY----
JIMMY MURPHY 2-11
SHE MIGHT HAVE MARRIED HIM, BUT I NIPPED THAT! I HAD TO RESORT TO A LITTLE UNDER-HANDED WORK TO BUST 'EM UP, BUT I HAD TO SAVE HER FROM HERSELF! SIT DOWN, CASPER, AND I'LL TELL YOU ABOUT IT----
NOW WE'LL HEAR ABOUT A LITTLE ROMANCE OF THE PAST!



CASPER, SEVERAL YEARS AGO MY DAUGHTER WAS INFATUATED WITH A PENNILESS CHAP WHO WAS WORKING HIS WAY THROUGH COLLEGE---AND HE WAS MADLY IN LOVE WITH HER! THEY'D HAVE BEEN MARRIED, IF I HADN'T SPLIT THEM UP!
IT WAS UNETHICAL OF ME, BUT I COULDN'T SEE HER WASTE HER LIFE WITH THAT UPSTART! I TOOK HER AWAY ONE SUMMER, AND I INTERCEPTED HIS LETTERS TO HER AND HERS TO HIM---EACH THOUGHT THE OTHER WAS BEING TURNED DOWN! SOON THEY CEASED TO CORRESPOND
Copr. 1942, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
SHE NEVER SAW HIM AGAIN, BUT I FEAR SHE STILL LOVES HIM! MY ONE DREAD IS THAT THEY MIGHT MEET AGAIN, AND START THEIR ROMANCE ALL OVER---BUT NEXT WEEK IT WILL BE TOO LATE! SHE'LL BE MONTE MORGABILT'S BRIDE.
2-12
WHO WAS THE YOUNG COLLEGE CHAP, MR PLUNKER?
NEVER MIND WHO! I DON'T WANT TO MENTION HIS NAME! I NEVER WANT TO EVEN THINK OF HIM AGAIN!
WHAT A PITY THAT TWO LOVERS WERE SEPARATED BY A SCHEMING PARENT.
JIMMY MURPHY



MISS PLUNKER, WERE YOU EVER IN LOVE BEFORE YOU BECAME ENGAGED TO MONTE MORGABILT?
YES, TOOTS I DID LOVE ANOTHER BOY ONCE, BUT I GUESS IT JUST WASN'T MEANT TO BE
Copr. 1942, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
I'M SORRY, DARLING--- I DIDN'T MEAN TO OPEN AN OLD WOUND
I'D RATHER NOT DISCUSS IT, DEAR! OH, HERE COMES MONTE AFTER ME, SO I MUST GO NOW!
SHE STILL CARES FOR THAT OTHER BOY---I COULD READ IT IN HER EYES! MY, IT'S SAD TO MARRY ONE MAN WHEN YOU'RE IN LOVE WITH ANOTHER
JIMMY MURPHY 2-13
THAT OTHER BOY DIDN'T WALK OUT ON HER---HER FATHER SECRETLY BROKE UP THEIR ROMANCE, BUT IF I TOLD HER, IT MIGHT MAKE MATTERS WORSE! GEE, I DON'T KNOW WHAT TO DO---WHAT WOULD YOU DO?



CASPER, I'LL BE GLAD WHEN MY DAUGHTER MARRIES MONTE MORGABILT NEXT WEEK! I'VE LIVED IN MORTAL FEAR THAT SHE MIGHT BY CHANCE MEET THE BOY SHE USED TO LOVE AND START THEIR ROMANCE ALL OVER AGAIN!
Copr. 1942, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
THERESE, I SEE YOU'RE RE-READING A LOT OF LETTERS FROM SOMEONE YOU LOVE.
YES, DAD, FROM SOMEONE I LOVE--- VERY MUCH!
DAD THINKS THESE LETTERS ARE FROM MONTE, BUT THEY'RE NOT! THEY'RE FROM THE BOY I'LL ALWAYS LOVE....I WONDER WHY HE DROPPED OUT OF MY LIFE LIKE HE DID?
NO USE OF SAVING HIS LETTERS ANY LONGER--- IT'S TOO LATE NOW! DAD IS HAPPY, BECAUSE I'M TO MARRY MONTE, AND I'M GLAD HE'S HAPPY, EVEN IF I'M NOT!
JIMMY MURPHY 2-14 CONTINUED MONDAY.

SECRET AGENT X-9

WHAT WITH THE SHOOTIN' ALL OVER THE WORLD, X-9, I DON'T THINK THAT FOREIGN EX-PREMIER IS COMING HERE, AFTER ALL!
YOU MAY BE RIGHT, BILL!
KNOW WHERE I WISH I WAS AT THIS MINUTE, X-9?
SURE! IN A BOMBER, OVER THE PACIFIC!
BOY, HOW I'M ACHING TO GET OUT THERE AN' JOLT THOSE JITSU-JERKS! TK-A-A-A-A-A-A-AT!!
WIRE FOR ME, SON?
TELEGRAM
F.B. INGRAM SLIDE VALLEY LODGE IDAHO
X-NAB 7...WASHINGTON, D.C. FEB. 9 11:30 AM
PROCEED AT ONCE FBI FIELD HEADQUARTERS HAWAII..... CHIEF
WONDER WHAT'S COOKING, BILL...THE CHIEF'S WIRE SAID TO REPORT TO FBI FIELD HEADQUARTERS IN HAWAII!
DUNNO, X-9...I ONLY HOPE I CAN GET MY MITTS ON A COUPLE OF THOSE JITSU-JERKS!
PARDON!
HOLD IT, BILL!
PRETTY TOUGH ON A KID THAT AGE TO BE TRAVELING THESE DAYS!
YEAH..
GUESS WE HAVE THE SEATS DIRECTLY BEHIND THEM!
HOPE THE KID DOESN'T YOWL!
THAT BABY HAS BEEN AS QUIET AS A DOLL FOR HOURS, X-9! CERTAINLY IS TAKING THIS TRIP TO HAWAII LIKE A VETERAN.
SO I'VE NOTICED, BILL...WHAT TIME IS IT, NOW?
FINE O'CLOCK! WHY?
SEEMS TO ME KIDS OF THAT AGE ARE FED EVERY THREE OR FOUR HOURS...THAT ONE HASN'T BEEN TAKEN OUT SINCE TWELVE O'CLOCK!
THE NURSE IS TAKING HER OUT NOW, X-9!
GREAT SMOKE, BILL! GET A LOAD OF HER SHOES!
YOU'RE ABSOLUTELY RIGHT, X-9! THAT BABY'S NURSE IS WEARING MEN'S SHOES!
WHAT'S THE IDEA? IS IT A MAN IN DISGUISE?
THAT'S WHAT IT LOOKS LIKE TO ME, BILL! SOMETHING'S PHONY HERE.. THE BABY IS USED TO COVER UP!
I'M NOT SURE YET...BUT I HAVE AN IDEA THE BABY ISN'T EVEN REAL! IT'S KEPT PRETTY WELL UNDER COVER!
THE POINT IS, BILL, THAT WITH A WAR ON, ANYTHING IS LIABLE TO HAPPEN ON A PLANE BOUND FOR HAWAII!
WATCH IT, X-9! HERE COMES THE NURSE BACK!
MEET ME IN THE LOUNGE, BILL!
OKAY!
OH!
OOPS! BEG PARDON!
BILL! I FEINTED A LURCH AGAINST THE NURSE IN THE AISLE...I TOUCHED THE BABY ..IT'S NOT REAL—IT'S A DOLL!
I'D SAY IT WAS LOADED WITH TEAR-GAS...THE "NURSE" AND THE MUG WITH "HER" MAY FIGURE TO GRAB CONTROL OF THE PLANE BEFORE IT REACHES HAWAII!
THE TIME APPROACHES!
THE TWO MEN IN THE SEATS BEHIND US HAVE BEEN WATCHING! I THINK THEY ARE SUSPICIOUS...
WHERE ARE THEY, NOW?
IN THE LOUNGE! I WILL BREAK THE DOLL— SO!
TEAR-GAS! THIS WAY, BILL! WE'LL CUT THEM OFF BEFORE THEY REACH THE CONTROL-ROOM!

POLLY AND HER PALS

I HEAR BETTY'S ENGAGED--DID SHE GET A NICE RING?
DID SHE? SHE GOT FOUR OF THEM, PA!
FOUR OF THEM?!" GREAT GADFISH, POLLY--WUZ THEY ALL DIAMONDS?
BETTER THAN THAT, PA--
THEY WERE RUBBER--FOUR NICE, NEW, SOLID, GENUINE RUBBER TIRES FOR HER SPORTS ROADSTER!
SOMETIMES I THINK YOU DO THESE THINGS DELIBERATELY, PA!
WOT THINGS?
YES---- WOT THINGS, POLLY?-- EXPLAIN Y'SELF.
SUCH THINGS AS LEAVING THESE OLD BILLS AROUND THE VERY NIGHT MY BOY FRIEND IS CALLING!
THERE'S A HANDSOME FELLOW SITTING OVER AT THE NEXT TABLE--I WISH I COULD CATCH HIS EYE!
CAREFUL, LANA--HE MAY BE A MARRIED MAN!
OH, HE'S NOT MARRIED, POLLY----I'M POSITIVE OF THAT!
WHAT MAKES YOU SO SURE?
HE WAITED UNTIL HE WAS THROUGH EATING BEFORE READING HIS NEWSPAPER!

O.K., PA--ASK HIM, BUT DON'T OFFEND HIM HE'S A MILLIONAIRE--AND YOU KNOW A GIRL'S FUTURE--
I KNOWS--TH' DIFFERENCE BETWEEN STEAMIN' YER FACE IN BEAUTY PARLORS OR OVER A WASH-TUB
NOT THAT I DOUBTS YER WORD, WILBUR, BUT ARE YUH SURE YER SUPERSTITIOUS ABOUT BLACK CATS?
OH, POSITIVELY! WHY?
WAL, I JESS THOUGHT I'D ASK, CUZ KITTY HERE IS GETTIN' DERN TIRED O' BEIN' DIPPED INTO TH' FLOUR BARREL EVERY TIME YUH CALLS!
GEE, POLLY! CLAUDE SAID THE SWEETEST THINGS TO ME LAST NIGHT----
I GUESS YOU KNOW WHAT THAT MEANS!
YOU BET I DO!
IT MEANS HIS FATHER STOPPED HIS ALLOWANCE AGAIN, AND YOU SAT HOME LISTENING TO HIM, INSTEAD OF GOING TO A NIGHT CLUB, AS HE'D PROMISED!
HURRY, POLLY, THE CAR'S PARKED OVER-TIME ALREADY I TELL YOU!
OH, FIDDLE STICKS, DICK, EVERYTHING WILL BE ALL RIGHT YOU WON'T BE TAGGED-- GONE! STOLEN!
THERE! DIDN'T I TELL YOU HOW FOOLISH IT IS TO WORRY?

LITTLE ANNIE ROONEY

MY STARS ANNIE— DO YOU NOTICE HOW FAST EVERYONE IS WORKING? THIS MUST BE A RUSH ORDER
HONEST, JANE, DID YOU NOTICE HOW FAST EVERYONE IS WORKIN' FOR THE LAST COUPLE OF MONTHS? EVERYONE IS SPEEDIN' THINGS UP
MR. OLIVER SEZ "THE WAY THINGS ARE IN THE WORLD, EVERYBODY HAS TO WORK FASTER THAN THEY DID BEFORE—NO MATTER WHAT THEIR JOB IS"
LITTLE KIDS, TOO?
SURE ... IT DON'T MATTER IF YOU'RE OLD OR YOUNG, WE'RE DOIN' IT FOR OUR COUNTRY... IT'S EVERYBODY'S COUNTRY AN' EVERYBODY HAS JUST GOTTA HELP IT AS MUCH AS THEY CAN!!
DARRELL McCLURE
GLORYOSKY, ZERO, BUT IT'S GRAND LIVIN' HERE AN' BEIN' A GUEST OF MR. OLIVER'S? EVERY MORNING WHEN I WAKE UP I FEEL GLAD ALL OVER
—'CAUSE I KNOW I HAVE NOTHIN' TO WORRY 'BOUT—ALL I GOTTA DO IS EAT AN' WORK AN' STUDY—AN' HAVE FUN ALL DAY LONG—
AN' AT NIGHT WHEN YOU GO TO SLEEP, IT ONLY SEEMS LIKE A COUPLE OF MINUTES WHEN THE BELL RINGS TO TELL YOU TO HURRY UP AN' GET A SWELL BREAKFAST
DARRELL McCLURE
BEFORE I CAME HERE I USED TO KINDA WORRY, 'CAUSE I WAS AN ORPHAN AN' DIDN'T HAVE ANY HOME OR FOLKS LIKE REGULAR KIDS HAVE—BUT NOW I'M ALWAYS SO HAPPY AN' BUSY, I DON'T HAVE TIME TO WORRY 'BOUT ANYTHING
SEEMS KINDA SILLY TO ME— THE FOREST IS CHOCK-FULL OF TREES AN' STILL WE KEEP ON PLANTIN' MORE OF 'EM!
OH, JERRY, YOU MUSTN'T TALK LIKE THAT— YOU KNOW IF IT WASN'T THE RIGHT THING TO DO, MR. OLIVER WOULDN'T TELL US TO DO IT!!
MR. OLIVER SAYS ANYONE WHO CHOPS DOWN AN OLD TREE AN' DOESN'T PLANT A YOUNG TREE OUGHTA BE 'SHAMED OF THEMSELVES—
'CAUSE IT TAKES TEN YEARS TO GROW A TREE THAT YOU CAN CHOP DOWN IN TEN MINUTES—AN' UNLESS NEW TREES ARE PLANTED, THE BIG, LOVELY FOREST WILL BE CHANGED INTO A BIG, UGLY DESERT
DARRELL McCLURE
I THINK TIN DISHES ARE SWELL TO WASH—THEY'RE SO NICE AN' LIGHT AN' YOU DON'T HAVE TO WORRY 'BOUT BREAKING 'EM
ALL YOU DO IS WASH 'EM AN' RINSE 'EM IN HOT WATER—PUT 'EM ON THE DRYIN'-RACK AN' THEY'RE DRY BEFORE YOU CAN SAY HIPPOPOTAMUS
THEN ALL YOU GOTTA DO, IS POLISH 'EM A LITTLE BIT AN' THEY LOOK JUST LIKE THEY WERE MADE OUTA BRIGHT AN' SHINY SILVER
DARRELL McCLURE
IF YOU DROP A CHINA DISH, IT BREAKS ALL TO PIECES—BUT IF YOU DROP A TIN DISH IT JUST GOES TING-A-LING LIKE A BELL AN' THEN YOU LAUGH LIKE EVERYTHING
DON'T YOU JUST LOVE TO RIDE IN AN AUTOMOBILE?
IT MAKES YOU FEEL LIKE YOU WERE A MILLIONAIRE AND HAD HEAPS OF MONEY
WHEN I GROW UP I'M GOING TO HAVE A GREAT, BIG, RED AUTOMOBILE WITH A DRIVER ALL DRESSED UP LIKE A GENERAL IN THE ARMY!
OH, BOY— THAT WOULD LOOK KEEN!!
HEAVEN BLESS YOU AND THE CHILDREN—WITH MY POOR MAN SICK AND ALL, I DON'T KNOW HOW WE'D LIVED WITHOUT YOUR KINDNESS
DON'T GIVE IT A THOUGHT—IT'S ALWAYS A JOY TO HELP A NEIGHBOR
GEE—AIN'T MR. OLIVER GRAND! DID YOU HEAR WHAT HE SAID? "ONE HAND OPEN IN CHARITY IS EQUAL TO A THOUSAND HANDS FOLDED IN MEDITATION"
D. McC.
—I CANNOT FIND WORDS TO EXPRESS THE GREAT JOY AND PRIDE I FEEL IN KNOWING I HAVE THE PRIVILEGE OF SHARING YOUR FRIENDSHIP AND CO-OPERATION—
THIS WEEK OUR SHIPMENTS OF PINE TREES WAS ONE HUNDRED PER-CENT GREATER THAN IT WAS THIS SAME WEEK LAST YEAR... THIS IS ALL DUE TO YOUR CAREFUL, SPEEDY, HARD WORK
2-14
AT THIS TIME, OUR COUNTRY HAS URGENT NEED FOR INCREASED PRODUCTION AND I AM PROUD TO INFORM YOU THAT WITH THE HELP OF A KIND PROVIDENCE WE ARE DOING OUR FULL SHARE—
WHEN I THINK OF YOUR UNSELFISH EAGERNESS TO DO YOUR BIT FOR YOUR NATIVE LAND, IT STRENGTHENS MY BELIEF THAT ORPHANS ARE MOTHER NATURE'S FAVORITE CHILDREN

ETTA KETT

HERE'S YOUR TICKETS.' I'M NOT GIVING YOU MUCH MONEY - TO MAKE SURE YOU WRITE HOME OFTEN!
TAKE CARE OF YOURSELF, DEAR.'
I'LL STAY AT A HOTEL FOR WOMEN, OR THE 'Y' - I THOUGHT TOM WOULD COME TO SEE ME OFF!
HI!
TOMMY!
GOOD-BYE! GOOD-LUCK!"
WHY THE ICY LOOK? WHAT IS THIS, A REFRIGERATOR CAR?
HAVE YOU GONE WACKY?
I'M GOING TO THE CITY TO BE IN THAT SHOW!
NOT AND LEAVE ME BEHIND, YOU'RE NOT.' YOU NEED A MANAGER!'---SO-LONG!
JUST BECAUSE YOU HELPED ME TO GET DAD TO CONSENT TO ME GOING TO THE CITY, IS NO REASON WHY YOU HAVE TO FOLLOW ME!
WE'RE ENGAGED.' BESIDES, I'M YOUR NEW MANAGER!
WELL, FIRE YOURSELF." AS FOR THE ENGAGE-MENT--- THAT'S OFF! DEFINITELY!
DID I EVER TELL YOU HOW PRETTY YOUR EYES ARE, WHEN YOU'RE MAD?
TOMMY!'--BUT I'M GOING TO BE BUSY REHEARSING. I WON'T HAVE TIME FOR DATES--
COME OUT ON OBSERVATION PLATFORM AND REHEARSE A LOVE SCENE!
GET A LOAD OF THAT MOONLIGHT!"
JUST THINK.' MAYBE I'LL BE A STAR--AND HAVE MY NAME IN ELECTRIC LIGHTS."
TOMMY!' I'M HERE!'---IN THE CITY--AND I'M GOING ON THE STAGE!" ISN'T IT WONDERFUL!
IF YOU WOULD'VE MARRIED ME N' SETTLED DOWN-- THIS COULD HAVE BEEN OUR HONEY-MOON!"
BLANCHE.' IMAGINE MEETING YOU HERE!
ISN'T IT A SMALL WORLD!
IT WAS PERFECTLY DARLING OF YOU TO LAND ME THAT PART IN THE SHOW!'--WHEN DO I START?
WHAT AM I, THE FORGOTTEN MAN?
TOMMY, FORGIVE ME?
HMM! MAYBE YOU BEING HERE TO MEET US WASN'T SUCH A COINCIDENCE, AFTER ALL!
HELLO, MR TOWERS." THIS IS BLANCHE SPEAKING 'THE GIRL IS HERE - YOU KNOW - THE ONE FOR YOUR SHOW!' WHEN CAN YOU SEE HER?
IMAGINE 'ME ON THE STAGE.' IT'S LIKE A DREAM!
ALL SET." YOU'VE AN APPOINTMENT AT TWO!' JUST GIVES YOU TIME TO COME UP TO MY APARTMENT AND CHANGE!
I'LL SEE YOU GALS FOR DINNER!
SWEET CATS.' I'VE GOT TO WORK FAST!
CAN YOU TELL ME WHERE I CAN FIND A LAWYER?
THERE'S A GOOD ONE IN THIS BUILDING, ON THE SECOND FLOOR."
THERE YOU ARE.' THIS CONTRACT MAKES YOU SOLE AGENT AND MANAGER OF MISS ETTA KETT." PARTY OF THE SECOND PART!
THANKS--NOW ALL I HAVE TO DO, IS GET HER TO SIGN IT!
THAT'S THE CATCH.' IF SHE FINDS OUT I'M TRYING TO MAKE MYSELF HER AGENT SHE'LL NEVER PUT HER NAME ON IT!
HEY, SON.' HERE'S A PEN AND PAPER--THERE'S A PRETTY GIRL COMING OUT OF THIS BUILDING IN A MINUTE--GET HER TO SIGN HERE!
OKAY, BOSS.
CAN I HAVE YER AUTO-GRAPH, MISS?
DON'T TELL ME I'M FAMOUS ALREADY?
IT'S WORKING!
THERE YA ARE.' SHE SIGNED IT - I GOT YOU HER AUTOGRAPH!
SON, THAT WAS A CONTRACT SHE SIGNED.' I OUT-SMARTED HER.' THAT PAPER MAKES ME HER AGENT!
IS MR. TOWERS IN.?' I'M MISS KETT - I HAVE AN APPOINTMENT!
GO RIGHT IN, HE'S EXPECT-ING YOU!
HELLO, COME IN.' SAY, YOU'RE EVEN PRETTIER THAN BLANCHE SAID--WITH A LITTLE DANCING INSTRUCTION, YOU'LL BE A HIT!
IMAGINE' ME A STAR IN A SHOW.' IT'S LIKE A DREAM!
MISS KETT'S AGENT' TO SEE YOU MR. TOWERS!
HI, FOLKS!
AGENT.? DIDN'T KNOW YOU HAD ONE!
DON'T PAY ANY ATTEN-TION TO HIM.' IT'S ONLY A GAG."
